GC woman millionaire 'qualifier'

By GARY KEBBEL
Press-Record Staff Writer

Mrs. Georgia Miller, 2522 Propes Ave., is getting used to the thought that she might soon be $1 million richer if her Illinois State Lottery ticket has the winning number in the millionaire drawing.

She said, "I had a hard time sleeping after I saw the qualifying numbers in the Press-Record.

"Now I just wish the drawing were past, because I don't want to get my hopes built too high."

She bought the 50-cent weekly Bonanaza ticket June at the Tri-City Grocery Company's Bellemore Village store, 3250 Nameoki Road.

The state sells 30 million tickets before it has a millionaire drawing. Since 160 of those tickets have the winning numbers, Mrs. Miller's chances of getting the big prize

Whitford sentencing July 22

Larry A. Whitford, 18, of 2936 Emzee Ave., pleaded guilty Monday afternoon to one count of murder after reaching an agreement with the state's attorney's office to recommend a second murder charge be dropped. Sentencing was set for July 22.

Whitford had been charged with stabbing to death Mrs. Donna Rials Bartels, 21, and Miss Pam Brooks, 18, both who were residing in the Quad-City area.

The girls were stabbed on Chouteau Island Feb. 11 and their bodies were thrown into the Mississippi River near the northern tip of the island.

Mrs. Bartels' body was recovered in the water Feb. 12. An inquest showed she had been stabbed about 25 times.

Miss Brooks' body has not been recovered.

Whitford pleaded guilty to the murder of Mrs. Bartels.

Officials have been barred from discussing details of the plea due to the "gag order" issued by Chief Criminal Judge John Gitchoff, who was to conduct Whitford's trial.

The "gag order" prohibits officials or members of the staffs of the state's attorney, sheriff and defense attorney, Granite City police, witnesses and prospective witnesses from discussing details of the case with news representatives.

Whitford's guilty plea came as Judge Gitchoff was about to question 12 prospective jurors in his courtroom at Edwardsville Monday afternoon.

The process of jury selection had begun at 10 a.m. Monday and the court adjourned at 11:30 a.m., to resume at 1:15 p.m.

After the court resumed and the selection of jurors was continuing, Whitford's lawyer, Paul E. Riley, said he wanted to continue negotiations with the state's attorney's office to try and reach agreement for a plea.

Whitford, Riley and members of the state's attorney's staff returned to the courtroom at about 2:45 p.m. Monday and announced they had reached an agreement. Whitford then pleaded guilty to one count of murder.

It is believed the agreement was for a recommendation of a sentence of 40 to 90 years in prison.

Had Whitford been convicted of both murders, he could have been sentenced to death under the new Illinois capital punishment bill, which provides death sentences in several instances, including multiple murders. A death sentence would be subject to extensive court review, and none has been carried out in the U. S. for nearly a decade.

Grant for port job

A federal grant of $120,000 to finance installation of a water main through the Tri-City Port district facilities, along the rivertront was approved by the Department of Commerce at Washington Tuesday.

Approval of the grant, which also provides funds for grading and cleanup work at the Port to increase the area of potential industrial sites, was announced at Washington by Cong. Melvin Price (D-East St. Louis).

Cong. Price said the funds were allocated as part of the job opportunities programs under Title Ten of the Public Works and Economic Development Act and should create about 15 jobs to carry out the project.

He said the Economic Development Administration will begin immediately to process the grant to make the funds available as soon as possible.

"I am pleased the Port District has received this funding," Price said. "Not only will it provide for industrial site improvements, but it also will create jobs in a period of high unemployment."

Carl Ranft, general manager-secretary of the Port District, said the $120,000 grant requires a matching share of $30,000 by the district to provide the full $150,000 estimated cost of the proposed work.

According to plans prepared by the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan and Regional Planning Commission, an eight-inch water main will be installed parallel to the Old Alton Road to the railroad tracks, Ranft said. Three thousand feet of water main will be installed.

In addition, an old dumping area will be cleaned and grading work will be undertaken on about 10 acres of land to provide suitable sites for further industrial development at the Port, Ranft noted.

Before work begins, an archeological report must be made to the state determining whether or not there is any historical value to the land that will be graded.

According to Ranft, three fire hydrants will be located along the new water main. He said the new main also will provide the water supply necessary to any new industries planning to locate at the post.

Four-week A.O.Smith shutdown

A. O. Smith Corp. announced yesterday that the Granite City automotive frame plant will close for four weeks beginning July 5 for the annual changeover of equipment to begin production of the 1976 model cars.

There are about 800 employes at the plant of which only about 100 to 125 will continue to work during the changeover. Most of the remaining employes will take their vacations during this period.

The plant will resume production Aug. 4, it was announced.

Those who will work during the changeover will primarily be those in the shipping and maintenance areas. The maintenance crews will be responsible for the retooling necessary to produce frames for the 1976 cars while the shipping crew will attempt to exhaust the inventory of 1975 model frames.

The changeover this year will not involve a major model change, a spokesman said, noting the local plant will continue to supply General Motors with frames for full-sized cars.

Employes were notified this week of the changeover plans.

City-state agreement in truck route plan

By HARRY BARNES
Press-Record Staff Writer

An agreement between Granite City and the state of Illinois for the installation of signal lights at 18th Street and Madison Avenue has been reached and was the basis Monday night of City Council action introducing two ordinances that will put the city in compliance with terms of the pact.

While the agreement was to have been presented to the aldermen for approval in Monday night's council meeting, action was delayed until City Attorney George Filcoff can check details of the proposal.

The council placed on first reading an ordinance providing for the regulation of encroachments, such as buildings, fences or signs, in the immediate area of the 18th-Madison intersection. The intersection also is to be enlarged before traffic lights with left turn signals are installed.

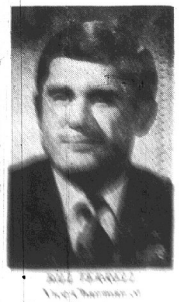

Improvement of the intersection is planned to provide a truck route over which heavy truck traffic may avoid the downtown area. The route will proceed over 18th Street to Benton, on Benton to Niedringhaus and on

Grant 'entitlement' for new Madison school

A state "grant entitlement" for construction of a new middle school (Junior High School) has been issued by the Illinois Capital Development Board for Madison School District 12, it was learned by the Press-Record today.

Notice of the grant entitlement has been received by Madison School Superintendent John Palcheff from Fred Knoche, administrator of the development board's capital assistance program.

Knoche said in a letter of notification that "your district will receive a state grant at a future capital development board meeting."

Palcheff said that no specific amount of potential state funds has been mentioned since the amount will depend upon the size of the proposed school as determined by the development board from surveys and studies of the number of students to be accommodated.

Palcheff said the Board of Education can take no further steps in the project until word is received that grant funds have been allocated.

He said that Knoche's letter noted that the grant entitlement "is a guarantee that state funds would be available and the school district can expect funding pursuant to the priority list."

No site for the proposed new school has yet been selected by the district.

According to Palcheff, state funding would provide 70 per cent of the building cost, with the school district required to finance the remaining 30 per cent.

This would need to be done through the issuance of bonds, he said.

If the state grant is finalized, a referendum for a bond issue to finance the district's cost of the building work would be held, the superintendent said.

The grant entitlement was based on surveys and studies that have been made by local officials and by inspection teams from the state.

On the basis of these studies, Palcheff said, the new school would house the sixth, seventh and eighth grades for about 625 students.

Palcheff said the School Board will be informed of the latest development in the building program during its regular meeting tonight.

Chester McManaway, secretary of the School Board, has been named chairman of a committee to handle the school construction program. All board members are members of the committee.

Graham's to operate downtown location

Graham's Book Store and Graham's Business Products, Inc., will continue to operate a downtown Granite City store after the present store is closed, it was announced today by Roy Graham and Ray Smith, partners in the business.

They have decided to lease the building at 1907 Delmar Ave., which formerly was occupied by a Necchi Sewing Center, and to use the store to sell items most commonly requested by "walk-in" customers at the present store.

The new downtown store presently is being stocked and an opening is planned for the middle of tnext week.

At that time, they said, the present store at Delmar and Niedringhaus avenues will be closed permanently.

The main store will open its new location about July 1. The new location is in the quarters presently occupied by the Bellemore 'True-Value Hardware in the Bellemore Village Shopping Center. The hardware store will close Saturday.

The new downtown store will stock newspapers, magazines, cards, American Express money orders, general office supplies, candy, cigarettes and a few other items.

Items stocked at the Bellemore Village store will be delivered to the downtown store, upon a customer's request, or will be delivered to the customer's home or business, the partners explained.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy (Zura) Graham will initially operate the downtown store. "We have made many friends downtown and this is where we would like to stay," Mr. Graham commented.

The downtown store will be open weekdays only from 8 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. The Bellemore store will be open from 7 a.m. to 9 p.m. Mondays through Saturdays.

HULA HOOPS, JACKS AND SOFTBALL are just a few of the activities available to youngsters enrolled in the Granite City Park District's summer recreation program now underway at seven playground centers throughout the community. Miss Pamela Brokaw, extreme left, a recreational aide at Webster School playground, supervises some of the younger children who attended the first session Monday. Older participants were busy playing volleyball and engaged in other pursuits in the school gymnasium under the direction of Miss Leslie Lombardi, recreational leader at webster. Centers also are located at Logan, Marshall, Parkview, Wilson and Niedringhaus schools and the Park District Community Center in Lincoln Place.

Economy goal as Assembly spring session nears an end

By KEN WATSON
Press-Record
Springfield Bureau

Economy has become the big issue in the Illinois legislature.

As the spring-summer session of the 1975 General Assembly moves into its final two weeks, emphasis shifted from mere passage of bills to pruning of the proposed state budget to stave off a threatening financial crisis.

Gov. Dan Walker is an unprecedented statewide televised appearance before a joint session of the House and Senate called for a six per cent cut in his proposed general revenue fund budget.

The paring operation is counted on to cut about $300 million from proposed spending and thus avoid a massive deficit for the new fiscal year which starts July 1.

Walker asked for an across-the-board slash, basically in administrative costs.

But he left the actual reducing up to the legislators, and there were indications that the lawmakers might ignore the six-per-cent across-the-board recommendation and make selective cuts where they see fit.

Whether the new budget review would be a time-consuming task that would block plans for an orderly adjournment before the traditional June 30 adjournment date was an unsettled question.

Both House and Senate continue to grind away at the steadily diminishing backlog of legislation.

As far as the daily workload is concerned, both chambers appear to be in relatively good shape compared with recent sessions at this stage.

Committee work has virtually been completed with the exception of appropriation and emergency bills, which were exempted from the June 13 deadline for completion of committee action.

Emphasis during the past week was on committees, and there were several major developments.

Probably the most significant committee action was approval by the House Executive Committee of the Congressional reapportionment plan sought by Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley.

By a 13-11 vote, the Senate-approved measure was moved to the House floor despite bi-partisan opposition from two congressmen, Republican John Anderson of Rockford and Democrat Paul Simon of Carbondale.

A close vote was probable on the House floor and, even if passed, odds favor a veto by Walker.

There were developments in both the House and Senate on legislation that would affect every Illinois motorist—no-fault auto insurance.

The House adopted an amendment to its bill changing no-fault to a format known as the "Oregon plan."

This plan, adopted by the Oregon legislature several years ago, provides $5,000 for medical expenses, up to $9,000 for loss of wages and allows for a person to sue for "pain and suffering." The amended bill is similar to one Walker vetoed in 1973.

The Senate amended its no-fault bill to reduce the "threshold" factor and, like the House, advanced its bill to third reading.

There was Statehouse speculation that neither bill would be passed by both houses and that the entire no-fault matter might be deferred until the fall to permit another try at compromise between representatives of insurance companies and trial lawyers.

There also was a major development on another piece of legislation of potential importance to every Illinois family as well as the state's medical profession.

The House Judiciary Committee voted to remove a proposed $500,000 limit on medical malpractice judgments—one of the most important points in a bill to relieve the malpractice crisis.

The committee also voted to subpoena records of insurance firms in the state to determine why premiums have risen drastically.

The situation concerning malpractice legislation, however, remains confused and later floor action in the House may clarify the situation.

Organized labor's fight for hefty increase in benefits for the jobless entered the final round with favorable action by the House Labor and Commerce Committee.

The Senate-approved bill, strongly opposed by the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce, would provide unemployment compensation benefits equal to 50 per cent of the single worker's pay, but no more than 50 per cent of the average weekly wage, which stands at $185.

Married workers with no dependent children would be eligible to collect 40 per cent of their average weekly wage or a maximum $110 per week.

The same committee also approved a bill to prohibit employers from hiring professional strikebreakers to replace striking employes.

The Senate Labor and Commerce Committee approved a bill granting public school employes the right to organize and bargain collectively.

The committee session attracted several thousand teacher demonstrators to Springfield under auspices of the Illinois Education Association.

A House-passed bill to outlaw the practice of mandatory retirement because of age was killed by the Senate Public Health Committee.

In a 5 to 4 vote, the committee defeated a bill to prohibit employers from discriminating in hiring and firing practices because a person has attained a particular age.

Legislation to require re-registration of all Illinois voters continued its comeback trail. The House Election Committee advanced a re-registration bill to the House floor.

The committee also approved bills changing the primary election date from the third Tuesday in March to the first Tuesday in May.

Legislation rewriting Illinois' abortion law to require a husband's written consent before his wife's abortion and restricting abortion after the first three months of pregnancy—was approved by the Senate Executive Committee. Previously passed by the House, the measure goes to the Senate floor.

On another sensitive issue, the Senate Education Committee narrowly approved legislation providing for aid to parents of students in non-public schools.

The Agriculture Conservation and Energy Committee voted 8-3 to approve a bill removing control of the State Fair from the governor and placing it in the hands of a non-political board.

House-approved legislation setting a universal tax assessment rate for Illinois property taxpayers cleared the Senate Revenue Committee.

The proposal sets the statewide rate at 33 1-3 per cent of the fair cash value of the property. It applies to assessments made in 1975 and payments made in 1976.

Assessments rates now range from a low of 18 per cent in Johnson County in Southern Illinois to 44.5 percent in Winnebago County.

Floor action was limited as both houses concentrated on committee activity, but a number of relatively minor bills were passed in both the House and Senate.

With one vote to spare, the House approved a controversial plan designed to make it cheaper and easier for local governments to borrow money.

The measure was proposed by State Treasurer Alan J. Dixon.

It would create a municipal financing agency to buy the bonds of small governmental units such as school boards and park districts.

The bonds would be bought by the state, up to a limit of $300 million, with money raised from sale of its own bonds to private investors.

A proposed five per cent pay raise for about 60,000 employes under the governor will be amended to provide each worker with $60 more per month. The amendment is being offered this week in the House Appropriations Committee.

At the executive level during the past week, Walker used his amendatory veto power to reject parts of a bill giving the state Board of Education control over its own spending and travel regulation.

The bill would have removed both the Election Board and the State Board of Education from the jurisdiction of the Department of Finance.

There was more action on the pension front.

Rep. Joseph R. Ebbesen, R-DeKalb, achieved amendment of a pension bill providing for a lid on further increases in benefits until the pension fund on which they are to be drawn is at least 51 per cent funded. The legislation is designed to prevent further weakening of the state's various pension funds.

The Senate passed three bills, sponsored by Sen. Sam M. Vadalabene, D-Edwardsville, designed to strengthen Downstate police pension programs.

Both the House and Senate reconvened Monday, with prospects likely for a six-day session this week.

Employee of SIUE wounded

A Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville building custodian was in Wood River Township Hospital with gunshot wounds and a co-worker was held by Alton police in connection with a shooting Monday night at the university's Alton campus.

Treated at the hospital for gunshot wounds of his left arm and hip was John F. Landers of Hartford, a custodian at SIUE's Alton center. In custody of police was James D. Brown of Cottage Hills, a janitor at the same campus.

Brown was treated at Wood River Hospital for injuries he received in an altercation with Landers before the shooting.

SIUE security officers alleged that Brown and Landers fought in the physical plant office of the Alton campus at about 7:30 p.m. Monday.

Shortly before 8 p.m., Brown allegedly went to his pickup truck outside the office and returned with a .22-caliber pistol loaded with nine bullets.

Other SIUE physical plant workers who were in the physical plant office said Brown fired twice at Landers from a distance of about 10 feet. In addition to wounds of the arm and hip, Landers also has a wound in his left side, but only two shots were fired.

The other physical plant workers, Ronald R. Marshall of Brighton and Robert Garee of Alton, took the gun and called police.

Officers said Brown had been suspended for a week for alleged drinking on the job, and had returned to work on the day shift Monday. He reportedly had gone to the physical plant office Monday night to talk to Landers.

Chorus auditions Monday

A special audition for prospective barbershop quartet and chorus singers will be held by the Mississippi Valley Chorus, a chapter of The Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America, Monday at 8 p.m., at the Collinsville Building and Loan on Belt Line 40.

There also will be an outdoor meeting at Woodland Park on Monday evening, June 30.

The chorus, under the direction of George Holtzscher and assistant director Don Hadfield, has 50 members who reside in this area. Its president, Joe Siebert, invites "any man who just loves to sing for fun," to attend.

More than 35,000 members make up the society nationally. There are 750 chapters and more than 1,000 registered quartets throughout the United States and Canada.

Reading music is not a requirement and no prior knowledge of barbershop harmony singing is needed.

The international society is a singing fraternity devoted exclusively to men who want to sing four-part harmony.

The Mississippi Valley Chorus holds its annual show each year in March; competes against other chapters in district-wide and area contest, and has social events frequently.

It meets every Monday evening at 8 at the Collinsville Building and Loan.

A non-profit organization, the society provides a portion of the financial support needed by the Institute of Logopedics in Wichita, Kan., an organization which aids children born with speech defects.

Further information regarding the auditions may be obtained by calling Dennis McCann at 931-5215.

ENTER GLASS SPECIALTY

An inventory was being conducted this week to determine if anything was stolen during a break-in at Glass Specialty Co., 2045 Madison Ave., which was noticed Monday. A large window in the north overhead door was broken and entry was gained by crawling through the window. Small muddy footprints were found inside. The rear overhead door was unlocked and opened when the intruder left.

Bob Hardy, St. Louis newscaster and chief rabban of Ainad Temple will speak on "Helping Crippled Children," according to Avery Schermer, dinner chairman.

A family-style dinner for $3.75 will be served and reservations may be made by telephoning Schermer's Market at 453-7194 between 8:30 a.m. and 8:30 p.m. daily.

4 hurt in four-car crash

Four persons were injured in a four-car accident on Route 111 about three-tenths of a mile south of Sand Prairie Lane at 12:35 a.m. today.

Kenneth Reeves, Alton, was arrested north of the accident scene and was charged with driving while under the influence of an intoxicating substance and improper lane usage.

Madison County sheriff's deputies said that after the accident, Reeves' auto continued north with the left front tire and a part of the wheel missing and with extensive damage to the front and left side of his car.

It is alleged Reeve's northbound auto crossed the center line and sideswiped two southbound cars before striking a third car which had pulled to the west side of the road.

Those injured were in the first two cars struck. They were: Dale Williamson, 27, Belleville, driver of one car; Suzy Wilson, 34, O'Fallon, a passenger in his car; William Robinson, 21, East St. Louis, driver of the second car, and Rebecca Luksza, 18, Cahokia, a passenger in his car.

Marylan Schneider, 9 Fairway Estates, said she saw the three vehicles in front of her involved in an accident and started to pull her car to the side of the road, but it was struck by the oncoming car and was pushed into a culvert. She escaped injury.

Deputies said when they arrived at the accident scene, they found cars in the roadway and several injured persons at the edge of the roadway. The deputies then called for an ambulance.

The most seriously injured was Robinson who struck his chest durjng the accident. He also suffered abrasions to his left forearm and was admitted to the hospital.

Suzie Wilson declined treatment at the hospital despite an injury to her right elbow. Williamson was treated for injuries to his left upper leg and left chest and was released.

Legislative leaders said Tuesday night they will continue to appropriate funds on the pattern they have established, but that they hope to enact a law empowering the governor to impound six per cent of such funds. Reassessment program begins

A new quadrennial assessment of Granite City real estate property in which each parcel of property will be revalued with a view toward updating actual property values was initiated this week by Township Assessor Von Dee Cruse.

Cruse said the realization of a "professional" revaluation of property will be sought through the hiring of three real estate appraisers, all of them members of the Granite City Board of Realtors.

The appraisers employed to make new property appraisals include James C. Whitt, Francis E. Judd and Robert McClue. Whitt is president of the Board of Realtors. The three men were sworn in as township deputy assessors Tuesday morning by City Clerk Robert Stevens who also serves as town clerk.

In announcing his plans for the new assissment, Cruse said:

In Illinois all property is supposed to valued, inspected, and revalued every four years. This year, 1975, is the quadriennial year for township counties. With this being the law, as Granite City assessor, I am going to revalue Granite City Township.

Since man has recognized the necessity of taxes, so has he recognized the need for fair and equitable distribution of the tax load. This is the tax assessor's sole responsibility. To implement this assessment a revaluation of all properties within the township will be required.

My plan is for a professional revaluation. This is to be accomplished by the hiring of three professional real estate appraisers from our local Granite City Board of Realtors.

The revaluation will entail daily tours and conferences. Constant reference will be made to the current sales price of each piece of property to assure that no property will be evalued at more than its most recent sales price.

There is nothing in property revaluation to cause total taxes to increase nor decrease. Property tax totals are determined by expenditures of the seven local governmental units which make up the total tax levy for Granite City Township.

Property revaluation will not affect all taxpayers in the same way. I repeat, while revaluation will neither increase nor decrease total taxes, it can cause redistribution of the total tax among taxpayers. Properties which have been assessed at lower than average percentages for their true market value will find their assessment increased after revaluation.

Properties which have been assessed at higher than average peccentages of their true market value will find their assessment reduced after revaluation. Revaluation thus offers the promise of equal tax treatment for all properties. The only change from past practice is the change resulting from a correction of existing inequity.

As the revaluation progresses, taxpayers will be given an opportunity to see the actual valuation placed on their property before the actual assessment is made. This will be done by notification in our local news media when areas are completed. Our office hours will be extended to accommodate the taxpayer should he have any questions regarding his assessment.

The search for the body of Kenneth Walsh, 30, of Florissant, Mo., who jumped or fell from the Interstate 270 bridge into the Mississippi River Tuesday afternoon has been suspended by the U.S. Coast Guard.

Musical equipment stolen

A large quantity of musical equipment was among the items stolen during a burglary noticed this morning at the First Assembly of God Church, 24th Street and Grand Avenue.

The burglary occurred between 11 p.m. yesterday and 6:35 a.m. today, church officials said. The incident was reported to police at 7:50 a.m. today.

A rear door to the child care center was forced open and the church offices, several rooms and the sactuary were entered.

Police believe a truck or van would have been necessary to remove the musical equipment and other items taken.

It is believed all the musical equipment and sound equipment of Mr. and Mrs. Don Tanner, who were singing for an evangelistic musical crusade at the church, was among the loot.

Church officials were conducting an inventory today to determine the extent of the loss.

Visitors' rally beats Steeler Legionnaires

The Glen Carbon American Legion Steelers dragged a 4-3 decision on the GCHS North baseball diamond in a Legion league game Monday evening as visiting East St. Louis rallied in the sixth inning.

Pitcher Mike Stanton limited East St. Louis to six hits. His teammates garnered seven hits, including two long triples by Ed Kowalczyk.

The lead grew to 2-0 in the third as Kowalczyk unleashed a triple and scored on an infield grounder by Stanton.

East St. Louis made it 2-1 in the fourth, and in the fifth inning Schmidt walked and Kowalczyk tripled for the Steelers.

Behind 3-1 in the sixth, East St. Louis concentrated its attack to move ahead to stay.

Lifesaving courses offered

An estimated 6,000 persons drown annually, and most are less than 20 feet from shore.

In an attempt to reduce this number, the Granite City Park District is offering junior and senior lifesaving courses.

Both courses are offered for two sessions—the first session begins Monday and the second begins on July 14. Classes are held from 11:15 a.m. to 1 p.m. Mondays through Fridays for approximately two weeks.

Registration for lifesaving, mother-tot, and general swimming classes may be made in person at the Wilson Park pool office daily from 9 p.m. to 6 p.m.

There will be no charge for residents of the park district but a $2 insurance is required at the time of registration. Details are available at the pool office after 1 p.m. at 877-7466.

Busy baseball schedule underway

Mud stops cycles

The American Motorcycle Association sanctioned racing program set for Tuesday night at Tri-City Speedway was mired down in mud and never got off the starting line as the result of heavy rains that deluged the area Monday night. The weekly races will resume again at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, June 24.

Korean karate tourney Saturday

The National Midwest Tae Kwon Do championships (Korean karate) will be held Saturday in Hatheway Hall at Lewis and Clark Community College, Godfrey, located on Highway 67.

Eliminations will begin at 11 a.m. and the finals will begin at 7 p.m.

Heavy hitting topples Post 307 Legionnaires

A two-hitter by hurler Bob Eihausen and a triple and two homers by Jim Burkhart sparked the Edwardsville American Legion baseball squad to a 12-2 victory at Lee Park Monday over Venice-Madison Legion Post 307.

The visitors in the first inning garnered two runs on two walks and Burkhart's triple.

Post 307 deadlocked the contest with two second-inning runs when Cedric Wilson of Madison singled and Mike Vrabec of Assumption homered.

Edwardsville then added three runs in the third, one in the fourth, two in the fifth and four more in the sixth. Burkhart blasted homers in the fifth and sixth.

Kevin Werner, now with a 1-3 record, took the loss. Post 307 fell to a 1-2 record overall, including 1-7 in league action.

Post 113 yields to Highland Legion

Tri-City American Legion Post 113 now has a 1-2 record in District 22 baseball League competition after being blanked 8-0 last night at Highland. Highland evened its league record at 3-3 with the win.

In a non-league contest last night, the Steelers of Glen Carbon Post 435 rallied behind pitcher Mike Waldo for a 11-4 victory at New Baden. Post 435, now 3-2 in league play, garnered the win on key homers by Jeff Reiter and Daris Davis, and a triple by Ed Kowalczyk.

Highland hurler Mike Bachmens held Post 113 to five hits in the contest while his teammates collected 10, all singles. The hosts scored three runs in the first inning, two in the third, one in the sixth and added two in the seventh.

Tri-City pitcher John Scott went the distance and now has a 0-2 record on the mound. Post 113's hits were by Tom Hennrich, Elton Warfield, Dave Dombek, Jim Kafka and Jeff Scarborough.

Mercer fights for 3rd position Sunday

Mercer, the defending Illinois Inter-City League champion, will face the East Alton Vans at 2 p.m. Sunday at Alton, in an attempt to break a fourth-place tie in league standings.

The local nine moved into the deadlock with Highland-Pierron early this week after winning by forfeit and then earning a 6-3 victory over Troy in a doubleheader at Wilson Park. Both Mercer and Highland are 3-3 in league play.

The Vans moved into a first-place deadlock with Troy. Both are now 5-4, as a result of Mercer's double win.

Fairfax, which plays at Panama Sunday, has a 6-4 record, and Troy takes on Highland-Pierron Sunday. Panama is at the bottom of the standings with a 2-6 record.

GC Braves hold Cahokia scoreless for 3-0 win

Granite City Braves' hurler John Lakin pitched a seven hitter while teammate Paul Evans batted in two runs, leading the Braves to a 3-0 victory over Cahokia last night at Wilson Park.

Now with an 11-1 record, the Braves travel to Greenville for a 6 p.m. twi-night doubleheader today, and then to Collinsville on Saturday for a 2 p.m. Central Illinois Traveling League doubleheader.

Lakin and Cahokia pitcher Carlson had a pitching duel going until Granite City's third inning broke the scoreless deadlock. Ed Praema reached base on an error and then scored on Tom Manoogian's hit.

Evans' insurance RBI's came in the fifth after Praema walked and Mike Clark singled. Evans, a powerful pitcher and first baseman, smacked a two-out single which drove in both runners.

Cahokia threatened in the third, fifth and seventh innings, but the Braves' defense proved to be too much for the visitors.

After this weekend's competition, the Braves will take a week off from competition to allow several players to attend a baseball camp at SIU-Carbondale.

Brian Sikes, the Braves' captain and star catcher, was to go to Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville today to pick up his equipment to start participation with the Cougar summer instructional team under Coach Roy Lee. A spring graduate of Granite City High School South, Sikes plans to enroll this fall at the local university.

Cleanup drive is successful

Two city trucks and three privately owned pickup trucks were used to haul junk items last weekend in Operation Clean Sweep, a neighborhood cleanup drive in the Lincoln Place area.

The one-day effort resulted in collecting quantities of debris and many large items, including old washers, driers and television sets.

About 12 grownups and an equal number of young people did most of the work, according to Mrs. Nellie Bugastan, who was among the organizers. She commended local residents for their individual effort in bagging and boxing the unwanted items for the volunteer collectors.

Those working in the project were served barbecued pork steaks, watermelon and soft drinks during the day.

CYCLIST INJURED

Gene Reynolds, 48, Rural Route Two, Tracy Drive, was treated at 7:20 p.m. Sunday at St. Elizabeth Hospital following a motorcycle accident. He suffered abrasions to his left elbow, forearm, foot and ankle and was released after treatment.

Wallace to seek 6th consecutive win at 'hot pants' race

Missouri's Russ Wallace of Arnold has a 260 point lead over his closest late model stock car division competitor heading into this weekend's auto racing program here at Tri-City Speedway.

Wallace last Saturday captured his fifth consecutive feature race on the half-mile dirt oval, stretching his margin toward a possible 1975 track title over Rosewood Height's Bill Myers. Myers is second in the standings with 2,045 points.

Len Gittemeier of St. Charles trails the two with 1,285 points for third place.

The 1974 track champion Gittemeier, has been dividing his racing time between the speedway here and the U. S. Auto Club stock car circuit, having placed seventh last week in a 100-lap race at Salem, Ind.

Gundaker, who last year as a rookie failed to capture a reace, now is making his bid for the top rung on the point ladder.

The son of a St. Louis realtor, Kevin had won only two races going into last weekend's program when he attempted to make a clean sweep of every event he entered.

Driving the now familiar Number 12 racer, Gundaker topped Wallace to win the first heat race, placed second behind seasoned driver Lou Thery in the trophy dash, and then threatened to pull off an upset in the 20-lap feature race.

The oddity of Gundaker's participation here last weekend was that the 20-year-old driver was not even supposed to be racing a stock car that evening.

"Kevin was married at two o'clock this afternoon," remarked his mother Saturday, "and as far as we knew, he and his new bride (Jeanine) left the reception to go on a honeymoon."

At seven o'clock that evening, Mr. and Mrs. Kevin Gundaker arrived at Tri-City Speedway still in their wedding attire and the pit crew members sported tuxedos.

After a last lap accident erased his effort to capture his first feature checkered flag; the new groom loaded his race car on its trailer and departed with his bride.

In the sportsman division point standings, two-time main event victor Mike Wallace of Missouri holds down first place with 1,500 points. Granite Cityan Jack Yates and St. Louisian Kris Krohn are deadlocked in third place, each with 1,115 points.

This Saturday's racing program, starting at 7:30 p.m., will be highlighted by female spectators. Promoter Ed Bloom announced that all women arriving at the speedway wearing hot pants will be admitted free of charge.

Tourney ends SIUE tennis team's year; 17-8 record

Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville's two entrants turned in a creditable performance in the mid-June NCAA Division II tennis championships at Pueblo, Colo.

Brian Millar and Kent Smith, both freshmen, competed individually and together as a doubles team. In doubles, the pair won a first-round match before suffering elimination with a loss in the second round.

In singles, Millar fell just one round short of earning All-American honors. The native of Ontario, Canada, won his first three matches but lost in the fourth round to Dave Petersen of Gustavus Adolphus College, 6-2, 6-2. A victory over Petersen would have moved Millar into the quarterfinals.

All singles players reaching the quarterfinals, known as the round of eight, are automatically awarded all-American status.

Smith, from Menomonee Falls, Wis., lost a close decision in the first round of singles competition to Jeffrey Oates of the University of California-Davis, 2-6, 7-5, 7-5.

During the regular season, Smith posted a 22-6 record and Millar was 21-8. Millar played number one singles for an SIUE number two singles for an SIUE team which, in only its second year of competition, notched a 17-8 record.

Results from the NCAA Division II tournament:

First round, singles—Millar defeated Louis Morris (Old Dominion College) 6-4, 6-4; Smith lost to Jeffrey Oates (U. Calif.-Davis) 2-6-6, 7-5, 7-5; second round, singles— Millar defeated Rob Seraphim (Columbus College) 6-4, 3-6, 6-4; third round, singles—Millar defeated Andy Gladstein (Swarthmore College) 7-5, 1-6, 6-4; fourth round, singles—Millar lost to Dave Petersen (Gustavus Adolphus College) 6-2, 6-2.

First round, doubles—Millar and Smith defeated Don Beauvais and Don Cope (Southern Colorado State College) 6-2, 6-7, 6-4; second round, doubles—Millar and Smith lost to Jim Wile and Dave Longgear (U. Calif.-Davis) 6-2, 7-6.

Golf Cougars end their best season

The Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville golf team concluded its best season ever with its best finish ever in the NCAA Division II Championships, held in mid-June at Fort Campbell, Ky.

Coach Harry Gallatin's Cougars finished 10th in a field of the nation's 21 top Division II golf schools.

SIUE wound up with a 54-hole total of 915, which was 29 strokes behind the winner, University of California-Irvine.

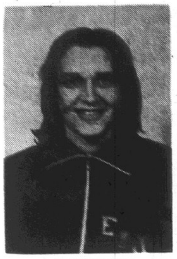

After the tournament, two SIUE players, seniors Rusty Pierce of Belleville and Dave Riffey of Springfield, were nominated as honorable mention all-Americans. Final selections will be made within the next week. If both are selected, they will be the first SIUE golfers to be so honored.

Pierce averaged 76.8 strokes per 18 holes, second best on the team, during the 1974 fall and 1975 spring seasons. At the Division II tournament, he shot rounds of 83, 72 and 78 for 233.

During the regular season, Riffey averaged 77.2. At the Division II meet he led SIUE with a 227 score (rounds of 76, 75, 76).

Other SIUE individual scores: sophomore Brooks Brestal (Belleville) 80,72 and 78 for 230; senior Marc VanderBeke (Moline) 78, 79 and 76 for 233; and junior Keith Swindell (Mascoutah) 75, 84 and 79 for 238. Tournament medalist was Jerry Wisz of California-Irvine with 211.

Pole vaulter Kratz exceeding 15 feet

BOB KRATZ

Bob Kratz of Granite City earned his second letter as one of the top pole qaulters on Eastern Illinois University's track team this spring.

Kratz was the 11th leading scorer for the Panthers, who completed the season by taking eighth place in the NCAA Division II National Championships at Sacramento, Calif.

Kratz's top vault was 15 feet this spring, ranking him as the second best on the Charleston squad.

"I think Bob is capable of 15-6 or higher outdoors. He vaulted 15-6¼ indoors this past winter, and with normal progress he should improve next year," Coach Neil Moore comments.

His 15-0 effort this spring was achieved in the tough Illinois Intercollegiate meet, and it earned him a tie for second place.

TREATED AT HOSPITAL

Nick Harper, 20, of Junction City, Kan. was treated this week at St. Elizabeth Hospital as a result of an auto accident. He suffered pains in the right ribs and leg and was released after treatment.

MARRIED. Mr. and Mrs. Robert O'Neal Teskey, whose wedding took place at St. Peter Evangelical United Church of Christ. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jule D. Bartels, 2661 Delmar Ave.

(Bloch-wood-Andrews studio)

Barbara A. Bartels and Robert Teskey are wed

Urns of white mums and daisies adorned the altar of St. Peter Evangelical United Church of Christ, 21st Street and Cleveland Boulevard, for the wedding on June 7 of Miss Barbara Ann Bartels, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jule D. Bartels, 2661 Delmar Ave., and Robert O'Neal Teskey, son of Mrs. Joseph Teskey of Chicago and the late Joseph Teskey.

Wedding selections were played throughout the service by organist Robert Hutcheson.

Vows were exchanged by the couple in a double ring ceremony, performed by the Rev. Robert Kettelhut at 4:30 in the afternoon.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the former Miss Bartels chose an ivory satin peau gown designed with an empire bodice, high neckline and A-line skirt.

Peau d'ange lace, etched with pearls, enhanced the long tapered sleeves and molded bodice. The lace was repeated on the gracefully flowing skirt and edged the sweep of the chapel-length train.

Her lace Juliet cap and bridal veil previously was worn by her mother. She carried a bouquet of white roses, carnations and German statice.

Maid of honor Miss Linda Kratz of Granite City and the bridesmaids, Miss Elizabeth Wagstaff of Oak Park, Ill., and Miss Joann Bauer of University City, Mo., selected identical full-length dresses of apricot maracaine jersey.

Their gowns were fashioned with V-necklines, high-rise waists and long slender skirts. The short sleeves were softly tiered.

Each attendant carried a bouquet of white carnations, daisies and statice.

The groom chose Daniel Thomas Walters of Urbana as his best man. Richard E. Haines, Urbana, and Jule Deitz Bartels Jr., a brother of the bride, served as groomsmen and ushers.

Guests were received by the newly married couple at a reception at Sunset Hills Country Club.

Members of the wedding party and their immediate families were entertained at a rehearsal dinner at the Sunset Hill Holiday Inn, hosted by the groom's mother, Mrs. Teskey.

The bridegroom will enter graduate school at the University of Missouri at Columbia in September. The newlyweds will be at home in Columbia in July following a wedding trip to Saugatuck, Mich.

Out-of-town guests here for the wedding, included Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Teskey of Fairbanks, Alaska; Mr. and Mrs. George Odum, Steven, Jeffery, George Odum Jr. and Miss Ellen Mietzner of Normal, Ill.; Jack LaBolt, Bloomington, Ind.; Miss Carol Tweedy, Wheaton, Ill.; Mrs. Warren Schutz, John Wellhausen, Miss Donna Stops, Wayne Johnson, Steve Crawford, Larry Haven, Miss Valerie Cribbs, Miss Lois Warren, Jim Klein, Miss Jennifer Putman and Richard Zimmerman, all of Urbana, Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Walther, St. Charles, Mo.; Mr. and Mrs. David Bartels, Fulton, Mo.; Frank Deitz, Kirkwood, Mo.; Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Bridgeman, Leslie, Jeni and Mary Beth, Oxford, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Theodore C. Shaklin and Mr. and Mrs. Steven Blackburn, Indianapolis, Ind.; Mr. and Mrs. Byrl Kinney of Mount Carmel, Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Jenkins Sr., Paul Jenkins Jr., Miss Barbara Burkhart, Mrs. Mary McFarling, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tuxhorn, Mrs. C. V. Tuxhorn, Misses Louise and Irma Deitz, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Modine, Robert Wollbrinck, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wendel and Edward Wendel, all of Edwardsville.

Mr. and Kenneth Bartels, Miss Delores Bartels and Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Brave, all of Wood River; Mr. and Mrs. Kurt Spiegel, Mary Teskey Gates, Dawn Teskey, Dr. and Mrs. Samuel Block, Mr. and Mrs. Neal Duncan, Miss Margaret Friesenhahan, Miss Carol Smith and James Maloney, all of Chicago.

Kenneth Whalings observe 25th year

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth G. Whaling, 56 Holiday Mobile Homes Park, renewed their wedding vows in observance of their 25th anniversary before the Rev. Robert Kettelhut at St. Peter Evangelical United Church of Christ.

To further mark the occasion, a celebration is being planned by their daughters, Miss Cynthia Whaling of Rantoul, Ill., and Miss Leslye Whaling, a senior at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, the family announced.

Picnic Friday at Central Baptist

Central Baptist Church, 3910 Highway 111, will climax two weeks of vacation bible school with a family picnic Friday evening at 5:30 on the church grounds.

Families are asked to bring basket lunches and beverages, ice cream will be provided.

Contests are planned for each age group and awards will be given for first, second, and third place finishers in each division.

More than 300 people are expected to attend the picnic, the Rev. John Lamb, pastor, said today. He noted that a total of 481 was enrolled in the two-week series, with 325 reported present, setting the high attendance record for a single day.

Two daily sessions have been held for children between 4 and 12 years old.

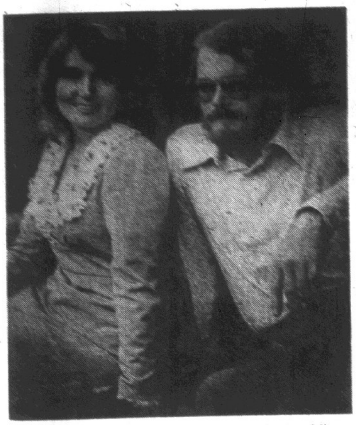

"Daring for God," a study in Christina character, is the theme of the current week, the minister said. The first week of classes focused on a "Gospel Train" theme, concerning Christian life, he reported.

Celebrates first mass here

REV. DAVID REILLY

The Rev. David F. Reilly, ordained to the priesthood in the Catholic Church on May 31 at Cincinnati, Ohio, celebrated a first mass at St. Elizabeth Church, Granite City, on Sunday, June 15.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Reilly, 2208 Richmond Ave.

The Rev. Lawrence Mattingly, pastor of St. Elizabeth Church; the Rev. John Savoree, assistant pastor; the Rev. James Zaumeier, chaplain at St. Elizabeth Hospital; and the Rev. Sylvester Micek, pastor of St. Mary's Church, Venice, participated in the concelebrated mass with Father Reilly.

The Daughters of Isabella, headed by Regent Marionrose Lambert attended the mass in a body. Mrs. Reilly is a member of the D. of I.

Following the mass, the St. Elizabeth Rosary Altar Society and the St. Elizabeth Quilters sponsored a dinner and reception in the church undercroft for Father Reilly, his family, relatives from his home city of Cincinnati, and friends.

After spending a few days with his parents, Father Reilly departed for Cincinnati where he is assigned as assistant pastor at Our Lady of Sorrows Church in Roselawn, a suburb of Cincinnati.

REVIEW

Briton praises Lincoln

ABRAHAM LINCOLN; by Lord Longford; G. P. Putnam's Sons; 231 pages; $12.95.

Reviewed By JOHN PINKERMAN

Lord Longford's credentials as an author and statesman are impressive and he is the leader of a family of authors. He knew Winston Churchill well. In his biography, "Abraham Lincoln," he calls the Civil War American president "a genius statesman," as Churchill was.

There have been hundreds of Lincoln biographies over the years, the Carl Sandburg volumes being best known.

However, in this Bicentennial year it is quite appropriate that a Briton give Lincoln a more detached view. In this case the detached view finds Lincoln one of the world's most amazing leaders.

Longford points out that Lincoln achieved all of his wonders, if they may be called that, in the short space of four years, from 1861 when he was inaugurated for his first term until 1865 when he was assassinated.

Longford speculates what Lincoln might have accomplished far beyond ending slavery and preserving the Union had John Wilkes Booth's single-shot derringer ended his life on April 14, 1865. "To the end of his life," Longford said, "he was hoping to bring about a social revolution and a reconciliation between North and South at the same time."

Modern political and social observers might say that a man of Lincoln's stature is a need today, just as in the turbulent years following his death.

The text of Longford's work is rich in description of Lincoln's entire life, accompanied by over 125 pictures, many in color and some fascinating copies of rare originals. Even the chapter titles record the drama which Longford brings to his biography: "Nowhere to Somewhere, 1809-42," "Pain and Difficulty, 1862" and "As God gives us to see the Right."

And, Longford speaks profoundly of that great man when he closes his work with, "He was, or became, a humanitarian in the depth of his being and a Christian of no church, or every church."

About This Question:

"In personal injury cases, damage awards are now often above $100,000 and sometimes as high as $1,000,000. Some types of liability are not even covered by the usual liability insurance policies. Does the Lueders Agency offer the 'Umbrella Liability Policy' at a cost of $125 for the average store, and $40 to $50 for a personal policy?"

New development in mound history

New information in the history of the pre-historic people who lived in the Cahokia Mounds area has developed as traces of the Kickapoo Indians, believed to have been descendants of the "Mississippians," the name given to the people who lived in the mounds area, have been found in Mexico.

James Anderson, curator at the Cahokia Mound State Park, spoke to the Tuesday noon meeting of the Granite City Rotary Club in the YMCA.

Anderson told the Rotarians there is a tremendous opportunity for further study as to why a massive Indian society vanished completely around 700 B.C.

The areas archeologists are working in at the Mound area include excavation and experimental reconstruction of items believed to have been used by the ancient civilization.

Members of the club were reminded by President Walter Milton that the installation of new officers will be held Friday, June 27, at 6:30 p.m. at the Sunset Hills Country club. Tickets are $10 per person.

Billy H. Terrell will be installed as president.

Other officers to be installed are Steven E. Bristol, first vice-president; Milton, second vice-president; Robert W. Stevens, secretary; Joseph P. Militello, assistant secretary; Earl G. Dotzauer, treasurer; Thomas L. Thebeau, assistant treasurer, and Bernard T. Pinney, sergeant-at-arms.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

Mrs. Maye Dailey, 85, dies

Mrs. Maye Dailey, 85, of Taylorville, Ill., mother of Granite City attorney Maurice Dailey, died at 3:30 p.m., Wednesday, at St. Vincent Hospital in Taylorville.

Youth sought after fleeing police officer

Granite City police are searching for a youth, about 18 years-of-age, who escaped from an officer in the midst of a large and hostile crowd at Kirkpatrick Homes at 10:55 p.m. Tuesday.

A squad car containing one officer was dispatched to the 4200 block of Kirkpatrick Homes where several persons were drinking beer and causing a disturbance, according to complaints police received.

The officer attempted to question one youth who refused to get into the police car. A crowd of about 50 persons gathered around the squad car, the officer reported.

The policemen said each time he ordered the youth into the squad car, the crowd would yell at the officer.

He said he then got into the squad car and radioed for assistance and the youth he had been attempting to question ran into the crowd and from the scene. The crowd then dispersed, he said.

Police said they would seek warrants against the youth for escape and disorderly conduct.

MOTORCYCLE STOLEN

Donald L. Mangiaracino, 1224 Oriole St., Venice, reported to police at 2:05 a.m. today that his 1974 motorcycle had been stolen.

Art Griffin named to Civic Center committee

"Progress towards a great new civic center took another surge forward today with the Senate Committee on Executive Appointments and Administration reporting favorably on seven nominations to the Metro-East Exposition and Performing Arts Authority," Sen. Sam M. Vadalabene announced today.

Vadalabene sponsored the legislation which created the Authority and is chairman of the committee which considered and approved the appointments.

The appointments included Art Griffin, Granite City labor business representative.

"These appointments will bring considerable distinction to this important agency; they are all outstanding citizens of the area," Vadalabene said. "Furthermore, they are truly representative of the entire area covered by the authorizing legislation. They will insure that Madison and St. Clair County get the finest possible civic center that can be developed.

"As one who has labored for a long time in the vineyard to make a new civic center possible, I am particularly proud the governor has chosen so well in making these appointments," Vadalabene continued.

"We hope to fully complete the Authority with further appointments as soon as we can. The area has already waited far too long to see this project move to completion."

Other appointees approved by the committee include: Irving Dilliard, Collinsville; Sibyl Belliss, East Alton; Ruth Scrivner, Belleville; Lowell Burger, Lebanon; Preston K. Johnson, Belleville, and Jerry Blue, Highland.

Masquers audition for 'South Pacific'

Auditions by adult males and females for principal roles and chorus parts in the Masquers, Inc's upcoming production, "South Pacific," will take place at 7:30 p.m. Friday at the Miners Theatre Hall, 204 W. Main St., Collinsville.

Mrs. Margaret Pennell of Granite City, who will direct the Rodgers and Hammerstein musical, said those wishing to audition for the principal roles should be prepared to sing, dance and read. There are many parts open for adults in the chorus, she added.

The director said interested persons who are unable to attend Friday's auditions may report to the Miners Hall at 5:30 p.m. Sunday, or call her at 877-5537.

The production will be presented to the public in Mid-September, with rehearsals scheduled throughout the summer months.

Summer youth program has applicants, needs job offers

The summer youth program co-sponsored by the Illinois State Employment Service and Co-Ordinated Youth Services has been successful in getting applicants, but not enough jobs have been found.

Ron Deloney of the CYS said today that "we have applicants aged 14-22—students in junior high, high school and college—on file. The skills of these people have are valuable.

"If you operate a small business and need clerical or retail sales people, we have them. If you are repairing your automobile and need help, we have people who can help.

"If you need help around the house, we have people who can assist you. And if you need someone who can babysit and do house cleaning, we have experienced people.

"We also have people who can serve and cook food, those who are skilled in carpentry, sewing and the operation of certain machines, as well as people looking for labor jobs, farm help jobs and jobs in stores.

"If you need someone for a day, week or all summer, contact me at either the Illinois State Employment office (451-5756) or at Co-Ordinated Youth Services (876-2383). If an appointment is more convenient, it will be arranged," Deloney concluded.

have already been reduced to 160 to one from 30 million to one.

Lottery officials told Mrs. Miller that the next millionaire drawing should be in six to eight weeks.

The last such drawing was June 4, and lottery officials said it takes slightly longer than two months to sell the 30 million tickets.

Even if she doesn't win $1 million, Mrs. Miller could win a second prize of $100,000, a third prize of 10,000 or door prizes of $5,000 or $2,500.

She already has won $1,300 for qualifying for the final drawing.

What will she do if she wins $1 million?

She laughs as she says, "Well, we've got three small children, and whatever I win, I'll give half to my sister, Mrs. Jolly Buther of Ridgely Tenn. We've always had an agreement that if either of us would win big money, we'd split it."

Qualifying for the millionaire drawing hasn't changed the Millers' habits concerning lottery tickets. They still buy two tickets each week.

Salvation Army offers varied summer camping

The Salvation Army's summer camp program began Tuesday with the start of a special boys' camp at the SA owned and operated 800-acre Camp Mihaska grounds near Bourbon, Mo.

Twenty boys, aged 13-16, were referred to Major Roy Rowland, divisional correctional services officer for the two-state Midland Division, by probation officers for participation in the week of camping.

This week's camp precedes two separate one-week periods devoted specifically to senior citizens. Campers will enjoy the outdoors, crafts, music and companionship of their peers.

In July, Salvation Army Corps Community Center Camping is scheduled. Campers from Salvation Army units throughout Missouri and Southern Illinois will gather in four separate groups up to 200 in number, a week for each group.

Each camper will choose a variety of activities suited to his individual interests. Activities include musical instruction, Bible study, nature lore, hiking, camping, swimming, camp-craft and fishing.

Persons wishing to participate in this summer camping program may receive more information by calling the local Salvation Army center.

Family camps are featured in August, a program coordinated through the Army's Family Service Department.

Grandparents, mothers and their children are selected by application to enjoy a week in the outdoors. Applications may be obtained from the Family Services Department, 2827 Clark Ave., St. Louis, Mo. 63103.

Over 2,500 campers are expected to visit the campsite this summer. Camp Mihaska is equipped with four-bed dormitory rooms. Each building contains modern bathroom facilities and hot showers.

The dining room is open throughout the summer, serving three meals daily. Free milk is provided by the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Special Milk Program to all children.

$600 theft

Items and cash worth a total of about $600 were stolen during a burglary at Ernie's Tavern, 4362 Lake Drive, which was reported Monday.

Locks were pried off the juke box, pool table and cigarette vending machine and at least $400 in change was stolen.

Also stolen were 32 cartons of cigarettes worth $170, three bottles of liquor and four cases of beer, authorities were told.

Paid 'advocates' being sought by state agency to curb child neglect

The Illinois Department of Children and Family Services, the state agency charged with providing protective and social services to neglected and abused children and their families, is currently recruiting advocates to work with families and children coming under the department's mandate of child neglect and child abuse.

"The answer to child neglect and abuse has traditionally been to remove the child from the natural home and place him in a substitute care living situation.

"Experience has taught the department that children so placed are not apt to return home, but are more likely to remain in substitute care until they reach majority, thus causing them to grow up in a temporary, insecure setting," a spokesman commented.

"One of the supportive services provided by the department to help keep children in their own homes is the advocate program."

Advocates may work with children or parents. Their primary task is to build a relationship with their client so that they may assist him in reaching mutually agreed upon goals and objectives and in coping with external pressures.

"Child advocates are similar to paid Big Brothers and Big Sisters," according to Tom Kircher of the department's East St. Louis area office.

Advocates will spend up to five hours per week with their clients and will be paid $2 per hour and 12 cents per mile for travel.

They will receive regular supervision from a department staff member and may work out of the Department's Belleville, Granite City, Alton, Sparta or East St. Louis field office. Advocates may range in age from 18 to 70.

Those interested in becoming a advocate may call the department's Resource Development Team in East St. Louis, 875-2400, Belleville 277-2900, Alton, 462-3841, Granite City, 876-8985, or Sparta, 443-4317.

Man beaten with pipe; in hospital

James Wood, 25, Hamel, was admitted to St. Elizabeth Hospital at 1:30 a.m. Tuesday after being beaten by a man with a metal pipe.

Wood was visiting in a home in the 2900 block of Delmar Ave., and said he has fallen asleep on the couch in the front room when five or six men kicked open the front door and entered.

He said one man beat his head, arms, hands and body with a pipe while the other men just watched. Before leaving, the men broke the front store window, a small window in the front door and a large ashtray.

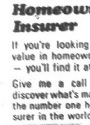

Wood was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital where he was admitted with multiple injuries.

MR. AND MRS. MARK GIPSON. They were married at Niedringhaus United Methodist Church. The bride is the former Cynthia Harris, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse R. Harris, 2640 Benton St. (Graveman Photography)

Gipson-Harris wedding in candlelight setting

Candlelight illuminated the chancel of Niedringhaus United Methodist Church for the wedding of Miss Cynthia Harris and Mark Gipson.

The couple exchanged their marriage vows before the Rev. Roy Baugh in a double ring ceremony on June 7 at 7 o'clock in the evening.

The former Miss Harris is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse R. Harris, 2640 Benton St. Her husband's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Gipson, reside at 28 Norbloom Drive, Normal, Ill.

White satin bows decorated the family pews and all-white bouquets of late spring blossoms were arranged on the altar.

Escorted by her father down the white-carpeted aisle, the bride selected a classic gown of white peau and Chantilly lace, designed with a high neckline, full lace sleeves and a softly draped skirt.

Her sweeping cathedral train was deeply bordered in re-embroidered lace and enhanced with lace appliques. She wore a veil of bridal illusion secured to a petaled headpiece and she carried a cascade of rosebuds, baby's breath and English ivy.

Miss Peggy Ham was the maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Valerie Harris, sister to the bride, and Miss Julie Gipson, the groom's sister.

Phil Beauchamp of Quincy served as best man and the groomsman were Bobby Gipson of Normal, the groom's brother, and Thomas Cichon of East St. Louis.

Wedding music was furnished by Dr. Walter Mathis atthe organ, who played "Sunrise, Sunset"; "Theme from Romeo and Juliet" and Lara's Song" from Dr. Zhivago.

The rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents at Charlie's Restaurant. Immediately following the church service a reception was held in Wesley Hall.

Mrs. Pamela Rutledge, a cousin of the bride, was in charge of the guest book.

The former Miss Harris is a graduate of Granite City High School South and Eastern Illinois University at Charleston, where she received a bachelor of arts degree in history and German.

Her husband was graduated from University High School in Normal and Robert Morris Junior College. He also attended Eastern Illinois University.

After a wedding trip to Florida, the couple will reside in Normal, where the groom is employed as a store manager.

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT J. WITSCHIE, who were married at St. Paul's United Church of Christ on Bluff Road. The bride is the former Deborah R. Green, a daughter of Mrs. Harold (Doris) Loyd of Edwardsville and the late Ernest R. Green, formerly of Granite City.

Deborah Green becomes Mrs. Robert Witschie

St. Paul's United Church of Christ on Bluff Road, Edwardsville, was the scene of the wedding on June 6 of Miss Deborah R. Green and Robert J. Witschie.

Altar bouquets of white gladiolus, blue, yellow and pink carnations, together with burning tapers in branched candelabra and white satin bows marking the pews, provided the setting for the double ring ceremony at 7:30 o'clock performed by the Rev. Glen E. Davis.

The bride is a daughter of Mrs. Harold (Doris) Loyd of Edwardsville, and the late Ernest R. Green, formerly of Granite City. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Albert L. Witschie of Edwardsville.

Soloist Frank Joachimsthaler sang "The Wedding Song," "One Hand, One Heart," "The Lord's Prayer and "We've Only Just Begun," accompanied by Mrs. Elvira Schaefer at the organ.

Escorted down the white-carpeted aisle by her stepfather, the bride appeared in pure white polyester organza over taffeta gown fashioned with an empire bodice. Venise lace motifs traced the sheer yoke and back, formed the V-neckline and accented the long sheer sleeves. Matching lace encircled the hem of the A-line skirt and the self train.

Her cathedral length veil of imported illusion was enhanced with lace medallions and held in place with a lace cuplet worn by three of her sisters. She carried a crescent shaped bouquet of stephanotis and baby breath, centered with white orchids.

Her only jewelry was a lavalier belonging to her grandmother and worn previously by her mother and four sisters.

Mrs. Sandy Johnson of Bridgeport, Neb., sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Miss Carol Douglas and Mrs. Audrey Cerny, sister of the groom, served as bridesmaids. They were attired in doeskin empire gowns with sheer long sleeved floral jackets of powder blue, yellow and pink, respectively. Delicately tinted daisies, entwined with baby breath, were worn as headpieces and they carried colonial bouquets of tinted daisies and baby breath.

The flower girl, Amy Witschie, niece of the groom, was attired in a blue doeskin gown with puffed sleeves. The empire bodice was trimmed with lace and velvet ribbon. Her headpiece and bouquet matched those of the bridesmaid.

Charles Fenoglio Jr., served as ringbearer.

Edward Witschie, brother of the groom, was best man. The groomsmen were Richard Evans, brother-in-law of the bride, and Terry Harbers. Guests were seated by Michael Glenn and Kenny Cline.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Loyd wore an aqua polyester gown with long full sleeves and silver trim, accented with a gardenia corsage. The groom's mother wore a turquoise gown of polyester with a sheer long sleeved jacket and an orchid corsage.

The groom's parents were hosts to the wedding party for a rehearsal luncheon and the reception was held at the Edwardsville Moose Lodge.

Hawkins dance company to spend week in area

The Erick Hawkins Dance Company originally scheduled for a two-evening performance at the Mississippi River Festival, Aug. 8 and 9, will expand its visit to a full week of residency at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Vicky Holt, MRF concert manager, said Wednesday the residency will include lecturers, demonstrations and classes in dance.

Mrs. Holt announced that Hawkins, "one of the foremost figures in modern dance," will lecture on his philosophy of dance and on the evolution of his techniques.

"Hawkins works on the theory that all dance movements must be in harmony with the body, and that you should not use unnatural movements in dance," she said. "He places a strong emphasis on the body and its natural movements."

The Dance Company will offer six master classes in the Hawkins technique during the residency. Five of the classes will be open to the general public; the sixth is reserved for students of dance at SIUE.

Mrs. Holt said the Dance Company also has announced its willingness to visit other sites in the St. Louis metropolitan area to give lectures, classes and dance demonstrations. The lectures will include presentations on music for dance by Lucia Dlugoszewski, music director.

"Erick Hawkins always uses live music for his performances," said Mrs. Holt, "so the music director is a key person.

"The Hawkins Company strives to achieve a real interaction between the music and the musician, and the dance and the dancer. All four interrelate to form the complete dance."

Mrs. Holt explained that Hawkins began his career as a ballet dancer, having studied at the School of American Ballet and Ballet Caravan.

In 1938, he joined the Martha Graham Company as guest artist but remained the leading dancer and danced with the company until 1951. Later, he organized his own company "which soon received national recognition in modern dance innovation," Mrs. Holt said.

Those interested in attending any of the classes or lectures or in scheduling the Dance Company may call 692-3294 for more information.

GOLDEN FRIED SHRIMP DINNER EVERY DAY AT GRANT'S—$1.99

The Retired Senior Volunteer Program has 29 persons working in local public service jobs, and Director Norma Mendoza said the program can place many more persons. RSVP is designed for persons over 60.

Volunteers work in St. Elizabeth Hospital, Granite City Township Senior Citizens Center, local schools and a Collinsville nursing home, among others.

Those working with the program do clerical work, teach skills, help teachers, nurses and nurses' aides, answer telephones and act as companions to older persons.

Mrs. Mendoza said, "By providing senior citizens with work useful to themselves and others, the program helps them feel they have not been cut from the community."

So far, 11 organizations have said they could use help from RSVP, and negotiations are in progress with three more.

Mrs. Mendoza said there is a special need for persons to teach crafts such as knitting, crocheting, wood carving and weaving. Other work opportunities include helping to rehabilitate stroke patients, chatting with hospital patients and working with children.

Granite City's RSVP is an extension of the same type of program in Belleville, sponsored by Belleville Area College. The program here also is sponsored by the college and the Tri-City Area YNCA.

Volunteers are asked to donate four hours each week to the program. Mrs. Mendoza said, however, that many persons work more than they are requested. One woman, she said, works about 18 hours each week "because she's having so much fun."

Senior citizens interested in volunteering may call RSVP at 876-7200 or go to the RSVP office at the Tri-City YMCA, 2001 Edison Ave.

Committee will review regional airport needs

Friends and foes of proposed new metropolitan airport at Columbia-Waterloo have voiced hope that a Regional Commerce and Growth Association analysis will speed a decision.

Appointed Tuesday to evaluate airport advantages and disadvantages were eight committee members headed by SIUE President John S. Rendleman and the Rev. Paul C. Reinert, St. Louis University chancellor.

Also serving will be Albert Cassens, president of Cassens Transport, Edwardsville; M. R. Milnor, chairman of the executive committee of the Alton First National Bank and Trust Co.; and Mrs. Audrey Marsh King, vice-president of Marsh Stencil Machine Co., Belleville.

Missouri members include Warren M. Shapleigh, president of Ralston Purina; George H. Capps, president of Capitol Coal and Coke; and Stanley J. Goodman, May Department Stores executive committee chairman.

The group will report in late summer on its view of the new airport plan and of proposals to expand Lambert Airport.

The following statement was issued by Arven H. Saunders, executive director of the St. Louis Metropolitan Area Airport Authority, in regard to the announcement that the St. Louis RCGA has formed an airport issue committee to evaluate the region's airport needs. The Authority has applied for federal approval to build a new airport.

"We are gratified by the action. The membership of the committee is impressive," Saunders said.

"We know that persons of such stature will recognize the great complexity of the question and will immerse themselves in the many technical matters that must be weighed in any responsible decision.

"We expect that the committee will be rigorous in its work and will examine thoroughly the various proposals to meet the St. Louis area's future airport needs. We trust that the members will not be subjected to pressures and emotionalism as they carry out their heavy responsibilities.

"Most of all, we hope that the committee's work will make a milestone in the kind of regional thinking and regional cooperation that is essential to give meaning to the very name of the sponsoring organization."

Whitford

It is believed the two murder victims on Feb. 11 walked from the Lexington subdivision of Granite City to a tavern on Nameoki Road. There, it is thought they had several drinks and left in an auto with three young men.

The five drove to the northern tip of Chouteau Island, where some drank beer, smoked cigarettes and talked.

A disagreement developed in the car and Whitford allegedly got one girl out of the car and said he wanted to talk to her. She then was heard to scream, officials were told.

The details of the occurrences after that moment are unclear, but both young women were believed to have been stabbed to death and their bodies pushed into the river.

It is believed the car later was driven through a car wash near Nameoki Road to remove mud and possibly blood.

Had the trial been conducted, it is believed the state's attorney's office would have called several people to the stand, including relatives, friends, patrons of the tavern, persons who knew the girls' backgrounds, employes of the car wash and James Hutchinson, 24, and Kenneth Roner, both of Granite City, who earlier were said to have told police details helpful in arresting Whitford.

Whitford was arrested the day of the murders and a search warrant was obtained for his house at 1:30 p.m. the same day.

Whitford was indicted Feb. 20 by a Madison County grand jury on the two murder counts.

The grand jury also granted immunity from prosecution to Whitford's father and mother, Gordon and Evon Whitford. The grant of immunity was signed by Circuit Judge Victor Mosele.

Larry Whitford has been held since his arrest at the Madison County Jail in Edwardsville in lieu of $500,000 bond. Sentencing has been set for July 22.

Niedringhaus to FA Route 151.

Also placed on first reading was an ordinance that will eliminate parking in the area of the the 18th Street and Madison Avenue improvement.

The bill prohibits parking on 18th Street within 300 feet of the intersection with Madison Avenue, and prohibits parking on Madison Avenue within 400 feet on the southwest approach to Madison, and within 300 feet on the northeast approach to Madison.

Under the agreement, Granite City is to make all surveys and prepare plans and specifications for the project as well as furnish engineering inspection during construction.

The state is to provide material inspection and conduct all material testing. In addition, the state will act as contracting agent and will provide general supervision of construction work.

Estimated cost of the work is $125,000, with the city to pay the engineering costs. The state will pay for construction costs. On this basis, the agreement sets out; Granite City will pay about $12,500, or 10 per cent of the total cost.

The city also is to obtain right-of-way necessary to the project. The city's share of the cost will be financed with motor fuel tax funds.

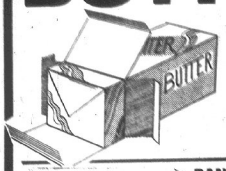

The agreement also provides that the city will maintain the improvement, including signs, pavement markings, curbs, gutter flags, sidewalks, manholes, catch basins, sewers, and utilities, and that the city will pay all power costs for operation of the signals.

Applications for excavation permits at three locations by the Illinois Power Co. were approved by the council. Excavations are to be made at Mitchell Avenue and the alley southeast of Nameoki Road to reinforce the pressure in a gas main at Pontoon Road and Moro Avenue to replace a leaking gas main under Pontoon, and on Grand Avenue in the alley between Madison Avenue and Iowa Street to replace a gas main.

The council also approved a resolution appropriating $170,000 in motor fuel tax funds for the annual street maintenance program.

Crackdown on junk cars

Junk cars in alleys and on the streets of Madison will be a target for legal action if the owners do not get them moved or licensed, according to Casimer Krakowiecki, city health inspector.

Krackowiecki told the Madison City Council at its Tuesday evening meeting: "I have been driving up and down the city alleys and there are numerous old cars that are creating a possible hazzard. I feel we should ask the people first to get rid of them, but if necessary I will go the full legal route."

"You really see a lot when you drive through the alleys, and I would like the alderman to inform me if they ever see a situation in which I may be of help."

The council reappointed Ed Ray Dubish to the board of Fire and Police Commissioners. Dubish is president of the board and has 14 years service.

The request of Charles Favier to allow a wavier of front yard minimum size to permit the addition of a covered and screened porch within 38 feet of the center of the street was approved on the recommendation of William L. Gushleff, chairman of the Madison Zoning Board. Gushleff announced that Steve Rydgig had resigned his position on the Zoning Board as he has moved from the city.

Two bids were opened on city owned property at 1313 Madison Ave. and referred to the building committee for study and recommendations. A $300 bid was submitted by Ira Stevens, 1313 Madison Ave.; and a $130 bid from Mrs. Mickie Marie Edwards, 1315 Madison Ave.

Fourth Ward Alderman Mike Sikora said, "We need a light in the alley between 10th Street and 12th Street and Washington and Iowa streets at both ends. It is really dark there."

The council also approved Explorer Post 10-4, sponsored by the Madison police, to begin a ride-along program as part of the young men's training. pending approval of the city's insurance company and a legal opinion.

The police report from Chief of Police Frank Dutko, for the month of May showed a decrease in major crimes from 66 in May of 1974 to 62 in May 1975. During the month the police department handled 2,756 radio, telephone and logged inquiries.

The council approved payment of $41,384 in bills for June 4 to June 17.

STOLEN CAR IN CRASH

An auto stolen from Earl Jones, 1227 Twenty-second St., was involved in an accident with two parked cars at Bromley Avenue and East 23rd Street at 3 a.m. Tuesday. Witnesses said the driver of the stolen car fled on foot from the scene. The car was returned to its owner.

Vans looted

Two vans were broken into and looted near each other Monday night or early Tuesday.

The van of Glen Boyer, Rural Route One, Box 529, Sand Road, Granite City, parked at his home, was entered and hand and power tools, automotive equipment, a tool box and tools were stolen. The loss was estimated at more than $500.

A van belonging to Georginn Toothaker, Rural Route One, Box 530, also parked at home was entered and a $235 citizens' band radio and $15 in cash was stolen.

Adopt a pet at weekend clinic

Two unusual cats of the tailless Manx variety will be offered for adoption at a two-day clinic planned this weekend by the Quad-City Association for the Protection of Animals (APA).

The adoption center will be located at the Granite City Flea Market, 3675 Nameoki Road, (former Biederman Furniture store).

Adult and student APA volunteers will offer the animals from 10 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. Saturday and from noon until 7 p.m. Sunday.

The non-profit humane organization, which operates a permanent shelter for abused and unwanted animals at the Granite City Army Installation, asks a nominal fee from families adopting a pet to help support the program.

In most instances, puppies and kittens have received their initial shots, Miss Helen Grotz, APA president, said.

The Manx cats are calico (orange and white) females and are quite unusual in this area, Miss Grotz pointed out.

Several "nice" puppies will be available for adoption, and a spayed female terrier which loves children is among the available pets to be shown at the clinic, the APA officer said.

Some larger dogs will remain at the permanent shelter and not be shown at the weekend clinic, Miss Grotz noted. Information concerning the larger animals may be obtained from the volunteer workers, she added.

'Music Under Stars' Tuesday at GC park

The 1975 "Music Under the Stars" concert series will make its debut at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening at the Wilson Park rink pavilion, Mrs. Mary Ann Bright, director, announced today.

The initial program will focus on music from "The Movies" and will feature the combined adult-high school and children's choruses.

About 50 persons are taking part in the Granite City Park District's summer choral program this year. Anyone interested in singing still may join the choruses, Mrs. Bright said.

Rehearsals for children in grades 5 through 8 are held from 1 p.m. to 2 p.m. in the vocal room at Granite City High School South. Adult and high school chorus members practice each Monday and Thursday from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. at the same location.

Seating accommodation for the concerts is provided inside the rink pavilion. No admission is charged.

Denies N&W responsibility in W. Pontoon crossing issue

Ronald Jennings, Decatur, Ill., local chairman of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, denied here this week that Norfolk & Western train crews have been in any way responsible for the operation of trains that caused the lowering of railroad gates at the West Pontoon Road Crossing for long periods.

Jennings said the train is brought to a point near the Nameoki area by the Illinois Terminal Railroad for a change of train crews. Norfolk & Western trainmen meet the train there and continue the run from that point, he said.

He said that any instance in which the train was stopped at a point which activated the West Pontoon Road gates was the responsibility of the Illinois Terminal crew and not the N&W trainmen.

The activation of gates at West Pontoon Road by parked trains has been protested by motorists who say the gates are lowered for long periods of times while train crews are being changed. Two persons have been killed at the crossing within the past year when they drove their cars around lowered gates, apparently believing that no train was approaching.

The issue was the subject of an Illinois Commerce Commission hearing at Springfield by motorists who use the crossing and by residents of the area.

Beaten by youth gang

Gerald D. Ishum, 19, of 1950 Spruce St., was treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital at 12:55 a.m. Wednesday for multiple cuts he said he suffered when a gang of five or six youths assaulted and tortured him twice.

He was treated for numerous cuts to his chest from his shoulders to his waist and to both arms and one cut on a leg.

He said he first was assaulted about 10:30 p.m. Tuesday as he was walking in the 2900 block of West 20th Street, by six boys in their late teens. Ishum reported one of the boys said he was going to give him "a little body torture."

The boys then cut his chest several times with a razor, he said, adding the injuries were not too serious and he sought first aid at a relative's home.

He said he visited a friend and then went to another friend's home in the 2700 block of Denver Street where Ishum's dog is kept.

Ishum related he went into the rear yard to check his dog and found the same group of boys waiting for him. He said they slashed him many times and then left.

He returned to the other friend's home who drove Ishum to the hospital. Ishum was released following treatment.

Motor fuel tax is distributed

Illinois municipalities have been allotted $9,471,277 as their share of motor fuel tax paid into the state treasury during May, according to the Illinois Department of Transportation.

Motor fuel tax funds are allocated monthly to the various municipalities in Illinois for their streets and highways. The monies allocated are computed on the basis of population.

Allotments to the Quad-Cities included $39,930 for Granite City, $6,911 for Madison and $4,593 for Venice.

Illinois townships and road districts also have been allotted $3,308,557 as their share of motor fuel taxes.

The allotments for townships in Madison County totaled $40,373.

BREAK INTO SCHOOL

'Family Night' to end vacation Bible school

A "Family Night" program at Niedringhaus United Methodist Church, beginning at 7 o'clock tonight, will conclude a two-week series of vacation church school classes, it was announced this week by Mrs. Connie Cornelison, chairman.

All pupils and their families are invited to attend the program, which starts in Wesley Hall at 7 with a "sharing time" and displays of work projects by special interest groups.

About 180 children attended the vacation Bible school, a project co-sponsored by St. Peter Evangelical United Church of Christ, First United Presbyterian Church and Niedringhaus Methodist.

The 1975 enrollment exceeded by more than 30 pupils the attendance figures compiled last summer, Mrs. Cornelison said.

Included in the plans for this evening is a special recognition segment honoring all participants and their teachers. Approximately 40 teachers and assistants conducted the school.

The winner of a poetry contest for seventh and eighth grade students also will be disclosed at the family night program.

An open house with parents visiting individual classrooms will conclude the evening, Mrs. Cornelison said.

Guatemala tour

Two Nameoki Presbyterian Church members, Connie Cuzilius, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Cuzilius, 2100 Lindell Blvd., and Neil Pierson, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Don F. Pierson, 4062 Vesci Ave., are among 35 youths and six adults who have left on a 22-day work tour sponsored by Memorial Presbyterian Church in St. Louis.

The group traveled by air-conditioned motor coach from Mexico to San Felipe (Rey) Guatemala. There were to be overnight stops in Texas and Mexico.

The group will be housed in the semi-tropical campus of the Presbyterian Seminary at San Felipe. There, the young people will take on several new work projects; from there, they will take numerous field trips to different parts of Guatemala.

Field trips will include Guatemala City; the University of Pennsylvania's archaeological "digs" of a Mayan town (1,500 B.C. to A.D. 600); several hours exploring ruins of the ancient capital city of Antigua; an afternoon at Lake Atitlan; visits to rubber and coffee plantations; colorful Indian markets in Guatemala City, San Juan and Qeuzaltenango; and hot springs at Georginas.

In addition, if conditions permit, a volcano climb will be included.

There will be daily Bible study and evening programs keyed to youth's interests, and there will be participation in Mam Indian and Spanish services.

It is described as "a rigorous, spiritually and culturally rewarding adventure for young people who want first-hand experience of life in a vastly different culture and personal knowledge of the Christian mission in Central America."

On July 6 at 7 p.m., Memorial Presbyterian Church, 201 S. Skinker Blvd., St. Louis, will host a program put on by the returning tour group — music, singing and brief testimonies from a number of the tour members concerning their tour experiences.

New schedule at Nameoki Methodist

The Rev. William Foster, pastor of Nameoki United Methodist Church, has announced the summer schedule for Sunday services.

Morning worship services will be held at 8:30 and 10:45 a.m., with church school at 9:30 a.m. Special music will be presented at the worship services and lay members will serve as liturgists.

The evening fellowship will meet at 6:30 and youth activities will begin at 7:15 p.m.

The summer schedule will be followed through Sunday, Aug. 31, the pastor noted.

DESERTED MIDWAY RIDES present a lonely image without the blare of carnival music and the shrill laughter of thrill-seeking youngsters and adventurous adults. A lone bicyclist watches preparations for the 16th annual Jaycee Homecoming which opens at 6 o'clock tonight on Fehling Road, adjacent to American Village Shopping Center. Booths sponsored by local civic and service organizations, a beer garden operated by the Jaycees and music entertainment nightly will be offered the public. The grounds open at 6 p.m. Thursday and Friday and 2 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. Kiddie matinees with all rides costing 25 cents are planned from 2 to 5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

Jaycee Homecoming starts 4-day run

Live music, midway rides, booths and a beer garden will entertain patrons at the 16th annual Granite City Jaycee Homecoming which opens at 6 p.m. today on Fehling Road near the American Village Shopping Center.

Local civic, service and youth organizations will sponsor 11 booths, offering a variety of foods, beverages, candy and games of skill.

Special kiddie matinees are planned from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday when all carnival rides will cost 25 cents.

Ray Swyear again has the rides concession.

The grounds will open at 6 p.m. today and Friday and at 2 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, according to Al DeLay, homecoming chairman for the local Jaycee chapter.

Musical entertainment will begin at 7 o'clock tonight and 8 p.m. on the remaining three days.

"We invite all area residents to join us and help make our 16th homecoming celebration a success," Mike Bledsoe, Jaycee president, said.

TWO INJURED

Ronald Noble, 3, of 2432 Bryan Ave., was treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital this week following an auto accident. He suffered pains in the neck and was released after treatment. Nancy Noble, 24, of the same address, was treated for neck pains this week and was released.

AUTO IS STOLEN

The orange 1972 Volkswagen of Mike Johnson, 2900 rear Myrtle Ave., was stolen from Wilson Avenue near Johnson's home, it was reported Monday. The car also was stolen about two months ago and was recovered at that time in Glen Carbon.

Scoville, Meyers charges dismissed

East Side Levee and Sanitary District president Jack Scoville and trustee Charles Meyers were cleared Tuesday in U. S. District Court at East St. Louis where charges they conspired to commit extortion were dismissed.

Judge James Foreman said the trustees were not in office at the time of the alleged extortion, but were still campaigning for office.

He said, "The defendants were never clothed with official privileges and duties, elements usually considered essential to the commission of extortion under color of official right."

Asst. U. S. Atty. Jack Strellis said he will appeal the decision. He said it only "takes common sense to realize it's just as wrong for a political candidate to conspire to extort money as it is for an official to do so."

The indictment charged Scoville and Meyers received $6,000 in October 1972 "under color of official right . . . in consideration for their official acts as trustees."

The men were elected Nov. 7, 1972, to the board and took office in December.

CERTIFICATE OF APPRECIATION. Robert J. Swift (left), project director of the Senior Community Service Employment Program, presents a certificate to William J. Tudor, associate director of the University Press at SIUE. Dr. Tudor was recognized for "Continuous efforts in promoting the productivity of senior citizens" of this region.

Program proving that aged can be productive

A certificate of appreciation "for continuous efforts in promoting the productivity of senior citizens of this community" has been presented to William J. Tudor, professor and associate director of the University Press at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The presentation was made by Robert J. Swift of Edwardsville, project director of the Senior Community Serivce Employment Program, on behalf of Glenn L. Northup of Washington, D. C., national project director.

"Dr. Tudor was instrumental in obtaining a federal grant to establish the program in this area," Swift said.

"We have received $300,000 in less than eight months, and the program has been extended for another year with expectation that we will receive an additional $400,000 in federal funding."

Swift said the program serves seven counties of Southwestern Illinois and the City of St. Louis.

It is the largest project of its type in the United States. There are 45 project sites in the nation, but this is the only one that crosses state line in jurisdictional authority.

According to the project director, 175 senior citizens have benefitted since the program was established last year. He said the objective of the agency is to find employment or better jobs for citizens above the age of 55 with low incomes.

Tudor was the first chairman of the volunteer administrative council of the area agency on aging, and he presently serves on the board of directors of Edwardsville Senior Citizens Services, Inc.

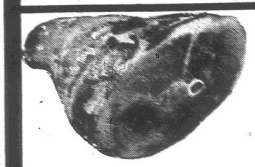

He also is chairman of the SIUE planning committee on aging, faculty members who organized to investigate the potential of participation by the university in both state and federal research and demonstration programs dealing with the aged.

The Senior Community Service Employment Program is sponsored nationally by the National Retired Teachers Association and the American Association of Retired Persons.

AINAD'S NEWEST and most impressive unit is this Circus Unit sponsored by the Shrine Club of the Highland area, called the Silver Lake Club. The unit is called the Ma-Ci-Bo Circus Unit and gets its name from Madison, Clinton and Bond Counties which the club represents. The authentic-looking animals are Nobles of Ainad in the so-called skins of the animals seen in the circus. The bikes are supposedly to keep the animals from getting loose in the crowd. Officers of this group include Robert Achenback, president; Harold Tracy, vice-president, and Clarence Netzer, secretary-treasurer. The Granite City Shrine parade July 10 will mark the unit's first parade appearance.

Venice board votes pupil insurance

The Venice Board of Education voted to purchase student insurance from the Manchester Insurance Co. of St. Louis for the 1975-76 school year, replacing the Page Insurance firm which has covered district pupils the past few years.

Comparing the two programs, the Manchester firm's policy is less expensive to participants in all categories and is without a pro-rata clause, Supt. of Schools Robert N. Vickers explained.

Cost to elementary pupils for in-school coverage will be $4 per child, while 7th through 12th grade students, faculty members and other school employes will pay $6 each, Vickers said.

Coverage under the 24-hour policy will cost $18 for kindergarten through 6th grade pupils and $21 for 7th to 12th grade students, teachers and other district employes.

Approval was given to the installation of a $300 sonic device on the school garage by the Central Burglar Alarm Co., and a tentative budget for Special Education Region I, which encompasses the Venice, Madison and Granite City school districts.

Woman officer Rotary speaker

The first Madison County female deputy sheriff Mrs. Rose Lee Hubner told the Madison-Venice Rotary Club at its Wednesday noon meeting in the Madison Reception Center that she felt women could function as well as men in law-enforcement agencies.

Assigned as an assistant juvenile officer, she said she feels that her fellow officers are accepting her well and the general field of law enforcement is opening up to women.

President John Blasingame reminded club members of the installation of officers on Wednesday, June 25, beginning at 7 p.m. in Charlie's Restaurant.

Ray Edwards is to be installed as president.

Other officers will be: Robert Vickers vice-president, Al Hudzik, treasurer; Fred Schmidt, secretary, and William E. Griggs, sergeant-at-arms.

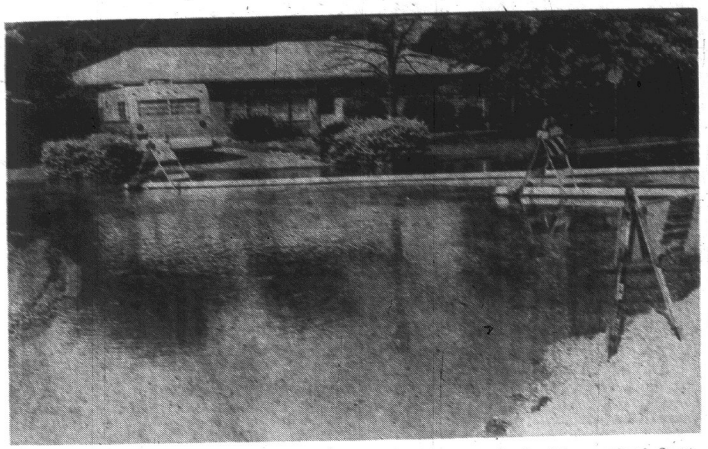

TOOLS ARE STOLEN

As assortment of hand tools and mechanic's tools were stolen from the garage of Stanley Edwards, 2616 Center St., it was reported at 2:45 p.m. Monday. The door facing was pried and broken to gain entry. An inventory was to be taken this week to determine what was stolen.

FLOODED STREETS on Stearns, Waterman, Boyle and Lynch avenues result from water drawn from the ground by four deep-well pumps in a dewatering operation that permitted construction workers to reach a sanitary sewer line break on Stearns Avenue near Waterman. This view shows the water around a home on Stearns Avenue near the site of the sewer break. Street Superintendent Lionel Portell said the four pumps are pulling 2,000 to 3,000 gallons of water per minute out of the ground on a 24-hour-per-day basis to keep the repair excavation from filling with water. Industrial development group to set priorities

The annual meeting of the Illinois Metro East Industrial Development Corporation is set for 6:30 p.m. Thursday, June 26, at the Fairview Heights Ramada Inn.

President Carl E. Mathis of Granite City reports that the group hopes to identify and rank the five or six most important projects that could help stimulate economic activity in this region.

To form the basis for such planning, meetings have been held with Chambers of Commerce, new media, government officials, industry, labor and financial institutions.

Additional Festival acts

Two additional "opening acts" for Mississippi River Festival concerts were announced this week by Vicky Holt, concert manager for the eight-week series of music, dance, crafts, art and theater programs at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The Festival is scheduled to open June 30 and continue through Aug. 30 with a total of 50 events.

Mrs. Holt said the opening act for the Blood, Sweat and Tears concert July 8 will be presented by Caravan. The Captain and Tennille, who currently claim "the No. 1 record on AM radio," will be the opening act for the Mac Davis Show, Aug. 18.

Mrs. Holt also announced that Luther Allison, "an outstanding blues artist," has replaced the James Cotton Band as the opening act for the Muddy Waters concert July 15. The concert manager explained that Cotton had to cancel his tour because of illness in his family.

According to Lyle Ward, managing director of the MRF, tickets ales for the Festival are continuing to set all-time records.

Township bills ok'd by board

The Granite City Town Board, which is made up of City Council members, approved Monday night bills of $4,448 payable out of the town fund and bills of $4,366 to be paid out of the general assistance fund.

The board also approved payment of $18 to Illinois Bell Telephone Co. out of the federal revenue sharing account.

Town fund bills included $3,464 in salaries.

In the general assistance fund, expenses included $1,404 in salaries, $190 for rent, $542 in services, $680 in prescription costs and $1,685 in food costs.

MASSIVE EXCAVATION on Stearns Avenue near Waterman Avenue is underway to replace more than 400 feet of sanitary sewer line. The sewer line at this point broke as the result of the high water table. Repairs by C. D. Peters Construction Co. is being financed by a federal grant of $68,000, part of which already has been advanced to the city. Extensive dewatering was necessary to reach the line which is 14 feet deep. Water removed from the ground by deep well pumps has flooded streets for several blocks around the site of the break. Charged with theft at SIUE

Security officers at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville have charged Norbert Jackson, 22, of East St. Louis with theft over $150 in connection with a theft from the Science and Technology Building on June 5.

A warrant was issued for Jackson's arrest, and bond was set at $5,000. He is charged with stealing dictating and transcribing equipment valued at $388. Jackson is not registered as a student at SIUE.

Security officers also report they have charged a 16-year-old Edwardsville boy with stealing a purse from an SIUE employe on May 7. The theft occurred in a third floor office of the Science and Technology Building. The purse reportedly contained $40 cash and identification cards.

Security officers said the juvenile is a ward of the Illinois Department of Corrections, and a petition has been filed in connection with the case.

GIFT by Schermer's Market, 12th Street and Madison Avenue, is presented to Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Owens, 1207 Bissell St., Venice. The $300 gift was presented by Avery Schermer, store operator.

MADISONIAN COMMISSIONED. Stephen Purkapile of Madison (left) takes the oath as he is commissioned a second lieutenant in the United States Air Force Reserve. Administering the oath in ceremonies during the weekend at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville is Lt. Col. Charles M. Amended dam environment statement being distributed

Approximately 500 copies of a draft supplement to the existing final environmental statement of June 1974 on replacement of Locks and Dam No. 26 at Alton will be sent to concerned agencies and organizations by the St. Louis District, U. S. Army Corps of Engineers.

The document was prepared to include the entire Mississippi River and Illinois waterway system in the analysis.

The supplement addresses environmental, socio-cultural and economic impacts along the waterway systems resulting from proposed replacement of the old dam with a new structure two miles downstream.

The project currently is being delayed by litigation.

The effects of the project on alternate modes of transportation also have been expanded in the document.

The planned facility calls for a new dam with the provision for two parallel locks, each 110 feet wide by 1,200 feet long, replacing the existing structure with its smaller lockage capacity (a 110x600-foot lock and 110x360-foot lock).

The maximum lockage capacity will soon be reached, and the long term stability of the old dam and locks is uncertain. Construction of the new structure is estimated to take 11 years.

The Corps will provide copies to concerned federal, state and local agencies, planning commissions, environmental organizations, business interests and citizens for review and comment.

Copies also will be provided to local and regional libraries for public review.

Those wishing to comment on the document have until Aug. 5 to respond.

Written comments may be addressed to the District Engineer, U. S. Army Engineer District, St. Louis, 210 N. 12th St., St. Louis, Mo. 63101.

Through the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act of 1973, additional funding for the Title I Program is available for FY 1976 (July 1, 1975 — June 30, 1976). The Madison and Bond County Office of Manpower Development (O.M.D.) has submitted a grant application for Title I to the Department of Labor, and maintains a copy for review at 103 West Purcell Ave., Room 205, Edwardsville, Illinois from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Monday through Friday.

The principal objective of the Title I Plan is to provide occupational and other job related training and work experience programs for the unemployed, underemployed and economically disadvantaged residents of Madison and Bond Counties. During FY 1976 the Office of Manpower Development plans to serve a total of 1,641 persons through Title I Program activities. While it is estimated that 1,002 of the 1,641 persons will terminate, 432 will be placed in unsubsidized employment. Specific target groups to be served include 325 veterans and 230 youth.

A present, the total funds available to the O.M.D. for Title I FY 1976 activities include $2,072,408. The projected distribution of this amount is as follows: Administration, $188,049; Participant Allowances, $868,734; Participant Wages, $545,497; Participant Fringe Benefits, $42,063; Participant Training, $300,073; and Services, $127,992. Two charged in robbery

John Stojetz, 40, of 2108 Kirkpatrick Homes, and Allen Miller, 27, of 3302 Kirkpatrick Homes, were charged Monday afternoon with the armed robbery Sunday of Doc's Lounge Tavern, 1417 Twentieth St., during which about $250 was stolen.

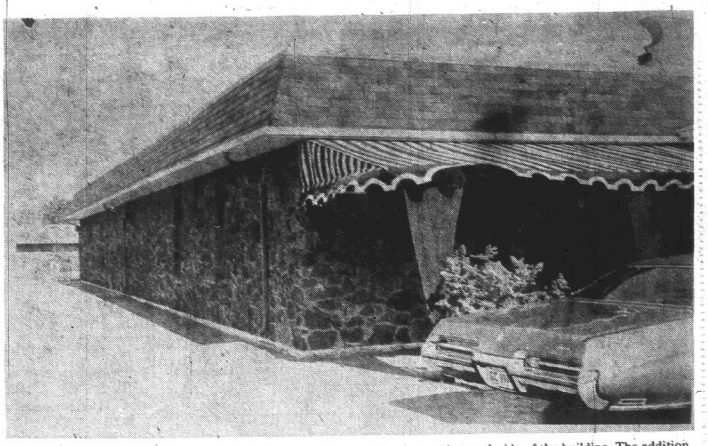

The two men were in a car which police stopped Sunday night at 18th and State streets as part of an investigation into the robbery.

There were also two women in the car and one, Vickie Miller, 20, also of 3302 Kirkpatrick Homes, was charged with unlawful use of a weapon after police allegedly found a pistol in her purse. She appeared in court at 2:20 p.m. Monday and her bond was set at $1,000.

Miller and Stojetz also appeared in court at that time and pleaded innocent to the armed robbery charges. Miller's bond was set at $35,000 and Stojetz was held in lieu of $25,000 bond.

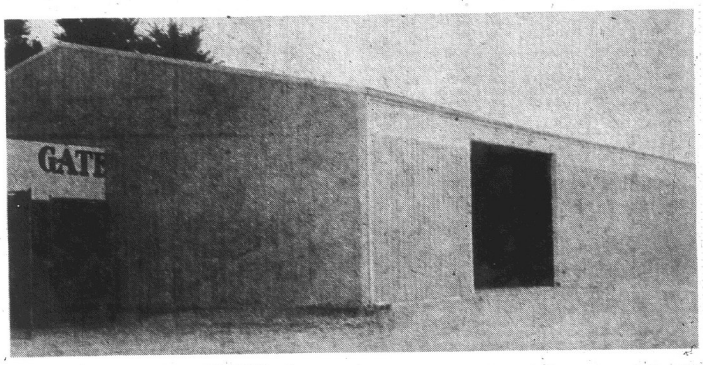

GARAGE IS LOOTED

Automobile testing and repair equipment worth more than $755 was stolen from the garage of Charles Freiner, 2221 Alexander St., it was reported Monday. The front door of the garage was pried open. Taken were an exhaust analyzer, a volt meter, a temperature tester, a skill saw, a jig saw, a vacuum pump, two drills, two soldering guns and other items.

Guest comment by Richard L. Lesher, president, Chamber of Commerce of the United States — I'm sure there's no truth at all to the rumor that Mayor Beame offered to sell Manhattan back to the Indians for $24 (or the equivalent in beads) and the Indians refused. But given the current state of New York City's finances, the story, if true, would be a testament to the good sense of the Indians.

The temptation is great for non-New Yorkers to draw on a glittering cloak of self-righteousness and berate the Big Apple for its many failings — first, because they are in large part self-inflicted, and second, because the citizens of Gotham have never been known for their humility.

But yielding to that temptation would be foolish. The problems of New York are not unique. The entire country is making the same mistakes that have led New York to the brink of bankruptcy. The only differences are that New York has run out its string somewhat sooner than the rest of us, and that unlike a national government, a city cannot print more money as the need arises.

What happened? Very simply, the citizens of New York, collectively, have long demanded more from the city in services than they were willing (or able) to pay for. The city politicans — loath to say "no" to the voters — took the "easy" way out and borrowed to cover the gap between income and outgo.

A city, a company or a country can get away with such borrowing when its prospects are good, when it is growing in prosperity so rapidly that lenders believe their loans can easily be repaid out of future gains. Indeed, under such conditions, a certain amount of indebtedness makes sense.

But the upward spiral has a down side, too. When debt has grown in anticipation of future economic growth, and the economic growth doesn't come, things start to go wrong fast: Taxes must be raised and new loans floated to meet payments on old loans.

Higher taxes tend to drive upper-income wage earners and profitable businesses out of a city (on a national scale, they tend to dry up the pool of capital available for investment in the creation of new products and new jobs). As a result, the tax base shrinks and there is still less income to pay the debts.

Prospective lenders become disturbed by the signs of economic stagnation and mismanagement. They calculate that the risk of losing their money is becoming greater and, therefore, they ask a higher interest rate in compensation. Thus, raising taxes proves counterproductive and refinancing the debt becomes more expensive.

Ultimately, a city or a company reaches a point in such a cycle where there are no lenders willing to risk their money. Then, it either defaults on its debts and goes into bankruptcy or it takes whatever drastic, painful economy measures are necessary to restore its good credit rating. New York is at just such a point today.

A country does not have the problem — or the benefit — of flinty-hearted creditors who finally draw the line. A country can pay for its profligacy by levying on its citizens the hidden tax of inflation, because a country has the ability to create new money.

But inflation, too, takes its toll: First, it has the effect of transferring more of the country's real wealth to the government and away from the private sector, which removes the seed corn of future prosperity.

And second, it shakes people's confidence in the conomy. This induces a "spend today, for tomorrow it'll be worthless" philosophy — also not conducive to longterm growth, which depends on the wise investment of savings.

So now we're in a bad national recession. And we're being told the way out is for the national government to go deeper into debt, to print more money.

A moderate level of deficit spending for a brief period right now is nothing to get alarmed about — and certainly justified insofar as it is used to care for the unemployed until the economy gets back on the track. But the enormous deficits Congress is happily contemplating are not the road to recovery — they are the road to New York.

Port District in unique position to stimulate jobs and economic expansion throughout metropolitan area

As outlined in Monday's issue, the Tri-City Regional Port District has a golden opportunity as the chief local-level governmental agency with jurisdiction along the 5,000-foot Chain of Rocks canal harbor.

The potential for its growth as a major inland port operator is almost unbounded.

A phased development plan drawn up in cooperation with the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan and Regional Planning Commission envisions a steady expansion of the Tri-City Port's role as a terminal and transfer complex for bulk commodity shipments.

Strategically situated on the 25,000-mile inland waterway system, with easy rail-highway-pipeline access and 300 acres of land available, the local port is on the main channel of the Mississippi River and offers an ice-free slack water harbor much farther north than might otherwise be possible.

Its roles include serving as a collection center for materials produced within this region, a distribution center for materials consumed nearby and a transfer point for Midwestern, transcontinental and overseas shipments.

Aided by its acquisition of the former Bi-State Development Agency terminal, the Tri-City Regional Port District is now in a position to further fulfill the role outlined by those who helped establish it years ago — a catalyst for economic diversification and employment growth throughout the St. Louis metropolitan area and a major portion of the Midwest.

Plan ahead

The wife of a new Washington appointee tells her husband, "If you're going to do something crooked, please get caught before we spend a lot of money decorating the house."

Cold facts

In the future we face no train travel, no airlines, no automobiles. Of course, we could stay home if we had some way to heat the house.

Typing error could be costly

SPRINGFIELD — A typing error in a bill passed by the legislature and signed into law by Gov. Daniel Walker could cost the state $30 million.

Dr. Fred Bradshaw of the state Office of Education discovered that one word was left out of a bill amending the school aid formula. It has the effect of raising some state grants.

"I was just looking for something else, saw the paragraph and knew that word should be there," Bradshaw said.

The word "transportation" was left out of a section defining a school district's operating tax rate. Transportation taxes are supposed to be subtracted when figuring the rate.

The more a district taxes itself, the bigger state grant it gets. Since the law signed by Walker doesn't exclude transportation taxes in calculating total tax rates many districts could collect more money — $12 million more this year and $18 million more next year, Bradshaw says.

Sen. Harris Fawell, R-Naperville, sponsored the bill, which was intended to change an unrelated part of the formula. He has amended a "shell bill" to correct the error, and the Senate sent the bill to the House.

Hundreds of shell bills were introduced this session to allow for last-minute changes in statutes through amendments.

The problem, however, is time. Fawell's bill is effective immediately, and Bradshaw explained the IOE processes grants for the 1974-75 school year as of the end of May.

William Goldberg, Walker's chief legal counsel, said that, if anything, the mistake would nullify the intent of the original bill. A judge would probably take the "common sense" view, however, he said, if any school district files suit.

Printing errors have plagued the legislature the entire session. George Nichols, executive director of the Legislative Reference Bureau which drafts bills, said the mistake was traced back to a computer.

The revised statutes are kept on computers that print the section of the law to be changed by proposed legislation. Since the school code is changed often, the word was probably left out when the computer file was updated, Nichols said.

"But sometimes this computer makes mistakes and I can't figure out why it does it," he added.

The governor's office and the Bureau of the Budget did not catch the mistake before Walker signed it. "We don't proof-read a bill against the statutes," Goldberg said. "We look at the changes."

"I'm sure there have been mistakes signed into law before," Nichols joked. "This is just probably the first that's been discovered so fast."

'Live within our means' —governor

I come before you as governor to state some hard facts and to ask your help.

Our nation's worst recession has now thrown our state into a financial crisis — a crisis recognized by the comptroller and by the legislative leaders of both parties.

The recession has cut deeply into state tax revenues, and will continue to do so.

We have only two alternatives — cut government spending or increase taxes. There can be only one choice: We must cut spending and we must do it now.

Our condition is like that of any family. We are caught in the trap of lower than expected income and rising costs.

We must continue to meet our commitments to our children, our parents and the needy in our communities. But, at the same time, we must take decisive action to live within our means.

The origins of this crisis are national. Our country is in the deepest economic trouble it has been in since the Great Depression of the 1930s.

Economists use Gross National Product — a combination of numerous economic statistics — to measure our economic condition.

In January, optimistic experts predicted that Gross National Product would decline by one per cent. Pessimists predicted a seven per cent decline.

The computers, the sophisticated forecasting systems, the expert economists were all wrong. They were not even close.

In the first three months of this year, the Gross National Product declined 11.3 per cent — the steepest drop since the U. S. Department of Commerce began keeping records.

Some say that the worst is over, that recession has now reached bottom. But prosperity is not just around the corner. We have already plunged farther and faster than at any time since the Great Depression.

The deeper the hole, the longer it takes to climb out. Some economic indicators may improve, but everyone agrees that recovery will be both slow and difficult.

It is only human to hope for better times, but we must not deceive ourselves into believing they are at hand.

All this time, the suffering caused by recession continues to mount.

Over eight and one half million Americans — 9.2 per cent of the labor force — are out of work and looking for jobs. Millions more have stopped looking.

Almost 400,000 people are out of work in Illinois. That means over 1,000,000 men, women and children directly affected.

In January, I presented the Accelerated Building Program to help fight the recession, to put thousands of people back to work, to stimulate consumer spending and thereby generate state revenues.

I do not contend that the program would have prevented our current fiscal crisis. But it would certainly have stimulated the economy and generated state revenues. How much, we will never know.

The Accelerated Building Program would have been financed with money derived from the sale of bonds, not from current taxes.

Bonds and other funds used for capital construction, such as the road fund, must be considered separately from the General Revenue Fund. Illinois has no problem with bond funds.

The problem we are facing today is in the General Revenue Fund — the fund composed of our sales and income taxes, the fund which supports education, public aid and government operations.

As recession cuts into the General Revenue Fund, it is a two-edged sword.

First, it cuts revenues.

People who are out of work do not pay income taxes. People living on less money, people tightening their belts buy less — and therefore pay less sales tax.

Business is bad — so business pays less taxes. It all adds up to a lot less money for the state.

For this year and next, state tax revenues are going to be about $140 million less than was predicted three months ago.

Second, recession and resulting unemployment force more people to seek public aid. Welfare costs have grown rapidly in recent months and will be higher next year.

When the budget was presented earlier this year, it was predicted that the state would begin the coming fiscal year on July 1 with a budgetary balance of $215 million.

We planned to use all the resources available — that $215 million balance plus new revenues — to meet the needs of people and stimulate the economy.

Now it appears that we will begin the new fiscal year with a substantially lower balance of $120 million, not $215 million.

The impact of three factors — the lower budgetary balance, reduced revenues and increased costs, including welfare — means that the state faces a budget deficit of well over $200 million next year.

That's over $200 million we will not have and cannot spend.

We must act now to prevent that deficit. Action now will avoid severe cutbacks and disruption in state services.

Action now will prevent the state from running out of funds for state programs.

Elsewhere, conditions are much worse. New York City, teetering on the brink of bankruptcy, is threatening to lay off thousands of policemen, firemen, teachers and other direct service workers.

One state is talking about closing portions of its university system.

Twenty states are proposing increased taxes.

In time of economic trouble, it is wrong for government to increase taxes. Millions of Illinois citizens have already tightened their belts — to the point where it hurts.

People rightfully expect government to live within its means, to meet declining revenues by reducing spending.

People don't want a tax increase and I am opposed to one. I will neither seek nor approve a tax increase.

The course we must steer is clear. We must trim our sails.

I am recommending that every General Revenue Fund appropriation be cut six per cent below the level recommended in the budget.

This across-the-board reduction will cut spending so that we do avoid a deficit, so that we do prevent a tax increase.

The Illinois Constitution requires a balanced budget. The Constitution also prohibits the General Assembly from appropriating more money than will be available.

This six per cent across-the-board cut must include every branch of government, every elected official, every agency, board and commission, every government function supported by the General Revenue Fund.

We cannot have the luxury of large, automatic spending increases or new spending programs based on a full-employment economy when we do not have the revenues from full employment to pay for them.

Therefore, we cannot afford the additional tens of millions or more in non-budgeted legislative spending programs now moving through the General Assembly.

Let's look at the impact of the six per cent across-the-board cut.

Take education. Appropriations for education — elementary, secondary and higher — account for almost half — 44 per cent to be exact — of the General Revenue Fund.

This year, total General Revenue Fund appropriations for education are $2,120,000,000.

As originally proposed, spending for education would have increased next year to $2,400,000,000.

Next year, even after the six per cent cut, we will spend $2,260,000,000.

This year, expenditures at the elementary and secondary level are $644 per student.

Next year — even after the six per cent cut — we will spend $704 per student. That's an increase of almost 10 per cent.

This may not be all the money that school administrators want or expect — but it is all we can afford — and:

1. It is still a substantial increase over the current year.

2. It is enough to fund quality education for all our children.

3. It is enough to eliminate any need for increased property taxes.

It is enough if — and this is the challenge — every school board member, every administrator, every teacher pitches in to help.

We can control the cost of education without impairing the quality of education.

Public aid is another major area of General Revenue Fund spending. We can control welfare spending and we must do it without cutting payments to those really in need.

The balance of General Revenue Fund spending is primarily for government operations: The judiciary, the legislature, elected officials and the various operating departments.

If these operations were to bear the burden alone, they would have to be cut over 25 per cent to avoid a deficit.

That could not be done without closing mental institutions and prisons, drastically cutting law enforcement and health programs, massive layoffs and serious disruption of state services.

With a six per cent across-the-board reduction, the burdens will be fairly and squarely shouldered.

Most programs will still be funded at a moderately increased level; some will face moderate decreases.

If particular problems arise in implementing reductions in certain programs, the General Assembly can make adjustments in the fall or even next January.

By cutting six per cent now, we will be able to balance our budget — as the Constitution requires.

President's foes have a tough row to hoe

By JOHN PINKERMAN

At this point it is plain foolishness to doubt the ability of President Ford to win renomination as the Republican candidate in 1976. He has everything going for him, and it is very likely he will get stronger as the next 12 months move along.

Ronald Reagan has expressed doubts about Mr. Ford's leadership, particularly what he calls failure to provide a "strong, lasting, consistent foreign policy."

Texan John B. Connally, Democrat turned Republican and recently cleared of bribery in a court trial, seems hesitant to endorse the President's 10-month leadership record.

Sen. Charles H. Percy of Illinois says a visit to his state of Illinois caused him shock when he found "paper thin" support for Mr. Ford. Percy called the President's recent tough energy speech "as amateurish a presentation to the nation as I've ever seen." Percy said he was seriously considering opposing Mr. Ford next year.

Percy hasn't a prayer of getting anywhere in opposing Mr. Ford. Connally doesn't matter. Reagan is a possible formidable foe — if the President should run into the type of scandal Richard Nixon did or if he should encounter some other domestic or foreign policy disaster.

However, Mr. Ford not only is doing well at home and abroad but as a politician with lots more experience than that of ex-California Gov. Reagan, he is, one might say, "cutting Reagan off at the pass" with some cute political maneuvering.

The full extent of this maneuvering isn't clear yet but it has brought one major beneficial result to the present occupant of the White House.

Twice in the last two months Sen. Barry Goldwater, the patron saint of the same conservatives who support Reagan, has come out without qualification in support of Mr. Ford in '76.

This situation could cause Reagan to reconsider his vow to stay within the Republican Party in any presidential route he might follow eventually. And, if he needs a nudge in going the third party route he should read "The Making of the New Majority Party" by William A. Rusher (Sheed and Ward Inc.).

Rusher, one of the most authoritative conservative voices in the nation, urges in this new book that the conservatives of all parties band together — not in a third party scheme, but to form a new major party. Then, Rusher says as he speaks favorably of Reagan, the battle lines would be drawn clearly between conservatives and liberals. The old identifications of Republican and Democrat would be meaningless under Rusher's revolutionary plan which, he says, would make the Conservative Party clearly the majority group.

This would seem to be Reagan's principal hope at this point because Mr. Ford is doing other things to win back conservative votes. Perhaps the President has read "Kissinger on the Couch" by conservatives Phyllis Schlafly and Chester Ward (Arlington House). The authors rip the secretary of state to tatters as selling out America abroad.

Mr. Ford, likely strictly to coincidence but in a timely manner nonetheless, now displays a public image of taking personal leadership from Kissinger in foreign policy negotiations. He made this abundantly clear in his quest for peace in the Middle East. This does not mean he downgraded Kissinger publicly in any way but his personal "take charge" approach to foreign affairs might swing even more conservative votes to his banner, particularly among the Kissinger critics.

Conservatives also rail at the lack of action in the Democratic Congress and Mr. Ford must have pleased them with his hard-line attack on his former colleagues over their delays in doing anything substantive on the nation's energy problems. He also has come down hard on money bill vetoes — another tactic sure to please conservatives.

In the meantime, the President has maintained the high degree of political morality the White House — so desperately needed when he took over last Aug. 8.

All of these tactics and developments accompanying them make him just about unbeatable in his stated determination to be the GOP candidate next year.

Area has led to 'widened horizons'

To the Editor:

My wife and I take this opportunity to express our heartfelt appreciation for the thoughtfulness of the advisory board. It is with a real sense of mixed emotions that we are drawing near to that farewell date.

I say mixed emotions in that we appreciate the confidence the Salvation Army administration has placed in us in appointing us to Leavenworth, Kan., and increased program and budget that will be ours there. But it is with sadness that we realize a dream unfulfilled — that being the completion of the Corps Community Center project.

Thus we, of necessity, must leave it in the most capable hands of the advisory board members and our successors, the Rev. and Mrs. Guy Hardin.

Rotary has a slogan, "He profits most who serves the best." I feel that this could be quite applicable to membership on the board, as well as the officer involved in total community life.

I know that I am not the same Ron Kerley who first came to Granite City.

My association with Rotary, the Ministerial Association, the Masonic lodge, the lay advisory board of St. Elizabeth Hospital, as chaplain of the Civil Air Patrol and other contacts have caused me to grow and widen my horizons.

I shall continue to watch with interest the progress made with the total program of the Granite City corps, and will seek a portion of your time at prayer as my wife and I accept the challenges which will continue to lie before us.

Stray dogs endanger young children

To the Editor:

In regard to the letter you published June 9 about dogs being misbandled by humane officers, I think the lady should stop and think before she condemns the men.

I have children going to Frohardt School and I applaud our humane officers.

Last year, my child was bitten by a dog that belongs to a resident near the school. The dog "got loose" and bit several children on the same day — five, to be exact.

I called the humane officers and had complete cooperation. As a parent of children who go to that school, I know how dangerous it can be to have a stray dog loose around them.

The men have to do their job as they see fit. They have had much more experience than most people.

You never know how dogs will react, no matter how friendly they may seem.

When it comes to God's creatures, I think children are much more important than any animal.

We are animal lovers, also; we have two dogs of our own. They are kept tied or in the house all the time.

If people were more considerate of others, they would abide by this rule.

I personally admire our humane officers, and I think they do a great job.

If we had as many dedicated people as they are, and concerned for the public safety, our community would be a much nicer place to live.

Worry about veterans, not deserters

To the Editor:

Again we have the hue and cry from the pro-amnesty groups, in this area and nationwide, probing for some type of amnesty for the draft dodgers and deserters, as well as KMOX Television again going on record to support some type of conditional amnesty.

Every St. Louis national veterans' organization is against amnesty. They want these men to have their day in court, for these men have broken the law and must pay for that violation, if justice is to prevail. It is that simple.

President Ford's recent program for these draft dodgers and deserters met with little response. And again, the news media and pressure groups bring up the matter for some action.

What is so important, I would like to know, about these people? They failed to do their duty and ran; and they had their chance to come home and didn't.

The country has far greater problems than dealing and wasting time with men who would not serve or answer the call of their country.

I am not in agreement with KMOX-TV and their editorial-views to bring these people home and try to forget Vietnam. And my views are shared by many.

How can we forget Vietnam ever, when so many fine men died, so many were wounded, and so many fought and served? These are the men and their voices, and they should be heard and always remembered.

These are the veterans, the real American servicemen, who fought for you and me so that we would be here to remember — and maybe never forget them and what they did.

Uptrend in job placement by Specialized Services

Job placement of clients at Specialized Services increased during April and May after several months of not placing clients due to the job shortage, Jim Doyle, director of placement, reports.

"During December, January, February and March, not one client was placed," Doyle said.

"In April, nine clients were placed, and seven were placed during May," he said. About two have been placed in June so far.

"In normal times we usually place five to ten in a month," Doyle said. "I hope it's not just a stroke of luck, as most business indicators show that unemployment is /not yet turning around.

"The clients have less going for them than the average worker, as they (all are handicapped.

"The job of the non-profit agency is to train handicapped people for eventual jobs in the community. This is done through an evaluation and work adjustment period to find the jobs that clients are best equipped to handle.

"Goal is to find their abilities despite their disabilities and their potential for growth," Doyle says.

Clients are encouraged to look for jobs on their own, and three clients have found their own jobs recently.

"I'm pleased when they find their own jobs," Doyle said. "Not that it's easier for me, but it speaks higher of the agency. It says that the staff is doing a great job in motivating independence in the clients.

"It also indicates that their chances of holding that job are greater because of that motivating factor."

Some part-time, temporary jobs also have opened up in this region. These are in the form of custodial jobs.

"One employer hired seven clients for just one day's work," Doyle related. "Another hired several for two days and was so pleased with their work that he extended it for the full week.

"It's a good experience, and the client benefits from temporary jobs, as he learns what it's like working in a real life experience. It also helps one's confidence to know that he can work on the outside," Doyle commented.

"We are available to help in any complaint that the employee or employe might have," Doyle said. "We don't necessarily tell the client what he should do about a problem, but we listen to his viewpoint and then ask if he has talked to his immediate supervisor," Doyle said.

"On the other side, we can offer advice and tips to the employer on how to handle any problems the client might have. This is an advantage that the employer doesn't have when he hires off the street.

"We might have tried something that worked and we can pass this information on to the employer.

"We're not going out to beg for work for our clients, but expect them to stand on their own merits," he said. "We think in terms of their abilities rather than their disabilities, although we are realistic of their disabilities.

"We're not going to put them in jobs that would injure them. If a client's ability matches the job opening, and he is chosen, then he is also entitled to an equivalent wage," Doyle emphasized.

"He should be considered the same as any other person applying for that job, and not thought of as 'a poor handicapped person who deserves a favor.'"

Doyle noted that the staff at Specialized Services has many years of experience in industry and supervisory experience.

"When a client is recommended for job placement, it says that he has knowledge of what it takes to do the job," he commented.

"Once in a while we have to tell someone we don't have anyone to fill the job," Doyle said.

"We have to be honest with the employer as well as having concern for the client. A job opportunity would have to be turned down if the client couldn't fill the bill. Both he and the employer would suffer if we didn't.

"In the event a client is not performing well on the job, we ask no special favors from the employer. If he can't cut it, then we ask that he be dismissed. That is part of our purpose of follow-up.

"If the employer feels hesitant about dismissing him, I'll do it," Doyle said. "It's fruitless to the employer and client for the client to stay in that job."

Doyle has been with the agency since January 1970. He worked in a personnel office for a time, and has been a supervisor in industry. He has a degree in psychology and special education.

Sometimes on-the-job evaluation is recommended in order to prepare a client for permanent employment.

"This is not a formal contract, but an amount of time from two to four weeks for a client to work on a job," Doyle explained. "The employer pays his salary, and the salary must conform to the Department of Labor minimum wage standards.

"OJE is an outside assessment period for the client.

"In spite of the belief that we're objective in our measurements, subjectivity can creep in.

"The assessment provides an employer's point of view about the client's potential. We ask the employer that he treat the client as though he were a new employe in a break-in period.

"At the end of the period, the employer gives us feedback as to how he compared to other new employes. The employer then assists us in pointing out areas we need to work on that didn't show up in the workshop.

"If the client does a superb job, then we ask the employer to write a letter of recommendation that will help him when it comes time to find a permanent job," he said.

A few firms have been involved in on-the-job evaluation, but the agency would like to see more employers willing to participate in this program.

"The temporary job is used as a stepping stone for the client," Doyle said, "and the employer is much better prepared to make an objective appraisal of the client's ability.

"At the end of the period, we don't ask the employer to hire the client, but we are concerned about the assessment of the client's abilities. However, if the employer has the need, it is his option to hire.

"If a client didn't work out well in his evaluation, then vocational counseling is in order. Perhaps we need to try another type of job for the client.

"According to nationwide studies, handicapped people have a lower workman's compensation loss time, have better attendance records, and are more punctual than an average worker.

"If they are properly placed according to their abilities, studies indicate they are more satisfied workers. We've experienced that with our clients.

"The key is matching the individual to the job."

Sponsors camp session

Sixty underprivileged and handicapped children from the Quad-Cities will attend Camp Personality in southern Missouri July 6-11 under the sponsorship of the Evening Kiwanis Club.

Dr. Raymond Troyer, a staff member at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville and representing the National Youth Development Foundation, explained the operation of the camp to the club at its Monday evening meeting in Charlie's restaurant.

Developing positive self images, good personality traits, and accepting the worth of others are among the goals of the camping experiences, according to Dr. Troyer.

The club voted to donate $300 for the repair of a Boy Scout pickup truck used at Camp Sunnen near Potosi, Mo.

It was announced that through the efforts of Illinois State Representative Everett Steele (R-Glen Carbon) the club has obtained permission to again use Horseshoe Lake for the annual boat races. The races are scheduled Sunday, July 27, with time trials on Saturday, July 26.

The event will be held at the intersection of State Aid Route 35 and Highway 111.

Area Explorers attend regional conference

Several hundred delegates, including 19 from the Quad-City area, attended a North Central Region Explorer training seminar held last week at Drake University in Des Moines, Iowa.

Explorer units from this area with delegates attending included seven members of Post 9 sponsored by St. Elizabeth Hospital, participating in the health careers portion of the program.

Law enforcement specialty Post 10-33 sponsored by the Granite City Police Department, Post 255 sponsored by the Pontoon Beach police and Post 10-4 sponsored by the Madison police, participated in the law-enforcement section.

Members of Post 9 attending under the supervision of Mrs. Donna Doctor, RN, were: Cindy Huelskoetter, Emily Booker, Marion Jackson, Susan Petrunich, Rita Mennerick and LaDon Biason.

The nursing Explorers visited Iowa Lutheran Hospital and were taken on tours through several departments of the hospital.

In an action-oriented experience the girls put on surgical uniforms prior to visiting the operating room and witnessing an operation in progress.

The purpose of the Health Careers seminar was to emphasize the importance of people and their participation in health care delivery systems, to provide an opportunity for medical Explorers to engage in significant learning activities with experts who are involved in caring for people, and to acquaint the Explorers with various community agencies that offer services for the care of people.

The girls attended several lectures including: "Human Survival" by Nathaniel Pugh Jr., Ph.D.; "Transcultural Awareness in the Care of People" by Madeline Leininger, Ph.D., RN, FAAN; "Quality and Quantity of Life" by Donald Germann, MD; "Professional Collaboration" by George Hill, M.D.

While the nursing Explorers were in hospitals, the law enforcement Explorers were being tear-gassed at the Iowa State Police training academy.

The police Explorers toured the Des Moines Police Department, exchanged ideas on law enforcement Exploring, and also heard from numerous experts in various areas of police work.

A special bomb and arson squad demonstartion and a SWAT (Special Weapons and Tactical) team taught valuable lessons to the future police officers.

W. F. "Mick" Strange, vice-president of the Cahokia Mound Scout Council, also attended the event.

BICENTENNIAL CELEBRATION and the role the Explorer Division of the Boy Scouts of America will play in it was explained to delegates attending "Discovery '75" conference at Drake University, in Des Moines, Iowa. Quad-City Explorer Units with representatives at the conference last week are Posts 9, 255, 10-33 and 10-4. Various scenes were flashed on three large screens as the presentation was made. Night scenes from left to right include New York City, Niagara Falls and the U.S. Capitol building.

Cooperative education plan by Army and 79 universities in region

Formation of a cooperative education program between more than 1,000 colleges and universities nationwide and the U. S. Army is being announced.

Col. Robert E. Glasgow, deputy commander of the Army's Midwestern Regional Recruiting Command, said 29 schools in Missouri and Illinois are participating in Project Ahead. Ahead stands for "Army Help for Education and Development."

Col. Glasgow said, "Project Ahead is a joint Army-academic venture that enables a qualified young person to earn college credits while serving his or her country.

"The qualified enlistee enrolls in a 'home' college at the time of enlistment into the Army.

"The college maintains an open file and assigns a counselor to advise the student-soldier during his or her Army career. The counselor and the young person plan a course of study.

"The counselor advises the student as to which courses to pursue among those offered on or near the military installation at which he is stationed.

"The 'home' college will accept credits earned while the young person is in the service and will maintain transcripts of those credits. At the end of the student-soldier's Army career, the 'home' school will either enroll the veteran as a full-time student or transfer all credits earned.

"Credits may be granted by the 'home' college for successful completion of some Army schools. Up to 75 per cent of tuition costs for courses taken while the student-soldier is in the Army may be paid for by the military."

Col. Glasgow added, "The Army's standards for enlistment are increasing. Beginning with the new fiscal year (July 1, 1975 - June 30, 1976), sixty-five per cent of all Army enlistees must have a high school diploma.

"Project Ahead is assisting the Army in meeting the stringent quality standards that are necessary to provide the high-quality volunteer service our country desires.

"In addition," he said, "Ahead is enabling the colleges to increase contact with qualified young people.

"Most important, however, is the benefit the young person derives from the program. Ahead provides a young person — who, for one reason or another, might have thought his education would end with the high school diploma — with a chance at higher education and a brighter future."

Millions eligible for war benefits

Almost 9.7 million men and women remain eligible for wartime veterans benefits based on military service during the Veitnam era, which was ended May 7 by Presidential proclamation.

The Veterans Administration reports that more than 7.5 million persons who have been separated from military service since Aug. 4, 1964, and 2.1 million who were on active duty May 7, 1975, are entitled to full wartime benefits.

All persons disabled in service, regardless of entry date, will continue to receive compensation and dependents' benefits on a par with veterans of wartime service.

Potential eligibility for persons entering service after May 7 was terminiated by Presidential proclamation for such benefits as nonservice-connected disability pensions for veterans, burial allowances and nonservice-connected death pensions for widows and surviving children of veterans.

Burial allowances include payment of $250 toward burial and funeral expenses and a $150 plot allowance.

The termination of wartime status came more than 27 months after the cessation of hostilities involving use of U. S. combat forces in Southeast Asia. This extension of eligibility was longer than in any prior war.

Eligibility of World War I wartime benefits ended with the Nov. 11, 1918, armistice.

After World War II, the eligibility period was concluded Dec. 31, 1946, over 16 months after the surrender of Japan.

A proclamation by Pres. Eisenhower ended the Korean conflict eligibility period Jan. 31, 1955, or 18 months after the armistice.

In terminating the Vietnam era, the President also has asked Congress to end the eligibility period for GI Bill education and training benefits for persons who will be entering peacetime voluntary military service on or after July 1, 1975.

The Presidential request pertains only to educational training earned through a minimum of 181 continuous days military service since Jan. 31, 1955. Not included is vocational rehabilitation training provided veterans with service-connected disabilities.

Subsequent home loans, where previous loans were satisfied — and an increase from $12,500 to $17,500 in the maximum portion of the GI loan which VA can guarantee — were authorized last year. There is no limit on the amount of the loan to which the VA guarantee applies.

The Veterans Health Care Expansion Act of 1973 eliminated the requirement for wartime service as a condition for eligibility for VA medical care.

Percy, Stevenson say CIA is 'vital'

By LESTER BELL
Press-Record
Washington Bureau

Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., and Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson, D-Ill., have exhibited parallel thinking in commenting on the Rockefeller, Commission's report on the Central Intelligence Agency.

Both deplored evidence of the CIA's questionable activities, warned that it has a vital national security function to perform, and called for close Congressional scrutiny lest the agency again exceeds its bounds.

Percy said in a statement that the commission has carried out its mandate and that now it's up to Congress to finish the job.

"I believe that responsibility will require us to revise the National Security Act of 1947 to redefine and limit the jurisdiction of each intelligence agency so that each does only what it is chartered to do and no more.

"We in Congress must reform our oversight procedures and put some new teeth into our role as watchdogs if we are going to prevent the serious transgressions of the past several years from happening."

Percy said, "National security demands a strong foreign intelligence service," but it must be one that is "responsible to the nation at large, not to an incumbent administration."

Such agencies must fully appreciate that they cannot resist legal orders nor hide violations of the nation's trust, Sen. Percy declared.

Sen. Stevenson told a news conference he "deplored the evidence" of illegal activity, but said he had "no reason to question the ability or integrity" of the CIA.

He believes the CIA was led astray by "immorality and imprudent conduct" of past, unnamed administrations.

He added that the CIA is "adrift" because the country lacks a foreign policy.

In urging a "permanent oversight committee" to keep watch on the intelligence agencies, Stevenson said he was "disturbed" by the debate over intelligence operations.

"The CIA performs a vital function," he said. "Without reliable information, the United States cannot respond to economic and military threats on all sides."

He feared that the effect of debate could be to weaken or demoralize the intelligence agencies.

Stevenson, in response to questions, disclosed that he has been "debriefed" by the CIA after trips abroad.

He said it is customary for congressmen and senators to do this.

Stevenson also said he confers with the CIA periodically when he has questions on Soviet military strength, the Arab oil cartel or similar matters under CIA surveillance.

Wills gets Coast Guard commendation

Coast Guard Storekeeper First Class Gordon W. Wills, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon M. Wills, 3016 Marshall Ave., has been commended for meritorious service at the Coast Guard Aviation Training Center, Mobile, Ala.

The center's staff was awarded the Coast Guard meritorious unit commendation for outstanding performance of duty from January through December 1974.

During that period, Wills helped implement new techniques for the command's helicopter training program. He also contributed to the success of unit activities in support of marine law enforcement, environmental protection and other Coast Guard missions, a spokesman said.

A 1970 graduate of Granite City High School, he joined the Coast Guard in November 1970.

Aerospace education course

A unique graduate course in aerospace education, featuring airport visits, flying experiences and rocket and helicopter demonstrations, is being offered July 7-18 at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The course (Ed-L 516) will be taught by Bob Williams, an instructor in elementary education.

Offered for the first time at SIUE, it will include the only official Civil Air Patrol course in Illinois. Williams said everything in the schedule of events also can be made available to elementary teachers in their schools.

The public will be invited to watch the class launch more than 100 rockets and view U. S. Army helicopter demonstrations July 14 at the SIUE soccer field. The demonstrations are scheduled to begin at 1 p.m. Children especially are invited, Williams said.

The class will visit the Civic Memorial Airport tower and hangar facilities at Bethalto July 15, and 20-minute flights over the area will be offered.

July 16 will be devoted to a tour of Ozark Airlines facilities in St. Louis.

McDonnell-Douglas headquarters and National Air and Space Administration exhibits in St. Louis will be visited July 17.

Williams is trying to make arrangements to airlift the class to the National Air Museum at Dayton, O., July 18.

Prominent aviation leaders will give class lectures and demonstrations during the first week of the workshop. Lt. Col. Richard Shellman of the Air Force Reserve has been assigned to assist Williams.

The role of the CAP and general aviation awareness will be discussed by Pete Allen of Chicago, an official of the Department of Transportation and the CAP.

Capt. Roger Bailey, assistant professor of aerospace education assigned to the Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps at SIUE, will conduct flying tours of the area, and Rose Church of St. Louis, a nurse with NASA, will discuss "space medicine."

Explaining the role of NASA in space flight will be Joseph Seidel of St. Louis, a NASA official assigned to McDonnell-Douglas.

Williams said more than 100 experiments in flight will be conducted in the first two days of the workshop. Class members also will be given materials to construct their own rockets.

The fourth day of the workshop will be reserved for the construction and flying of paper airplanes, kites and gliders at the Mississippi River Festival site on the SIUE campus.

Rites held for Edward Kueker

Funeral services were held at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday at an Edwardsville funeral home for Edward Kueker, 85, of the Anna Henry Nursing Home, Edwardsville, father of Mrs. Norma (Lela) Soechtig of Granite City.

Mr. Kueker died Monday at St. Joseph's Hospital, Highland. He was a retired farmer. He also leaves another daughter and a stepsister.

GC town levy rises

A 1975-76 tax levy of $403,853 for Granite City Township—up $53,538 over last year's $369,617 levy—was adopted by the Town Board Monday night in action that also included approval of the new budget and appropriation bill.

The Town Board, which is made up of City Council members, acted on the new financing measures following a 7 p.m. public hearing in which the budget was approved without change. The public hearing lasted only three minutes with only nine persons, including town officials, in attendance.

The tax levy calls for $159,952 for the town fund, $223,200 for the general assistance fund and $20,000 for municipal retirement payments. This compares with last year's levy of $144,767 for the town fund, $207,850 for the general assistance fund and $17,000 for municipal retirement.

The township's new budget of $907,552 includes $500,000 for construction of a proposed new township office building and recreation center for senior citizens, an item that was carried over from last year's appropriation. The new building will be constructed on the site of the former Central Junior High School which has been razed.

Town officials say construction will be started as soon as the fill in the basement of the old school site is properly compacted. The building will be financed with federal revenue sharing funds.

The new budget is $33,479 less than the 1974-75 appropriation adopted a year ago. The decrease results primarily from elimination of a $40,000 item included in last year's budget for acquisition of land for the proposed township building construction.

Included in budget items is $159,952 in projected expenditures in the town fund and $221,600 in anticipated expenditures in the general assistance fund.

The township's new tax levy extends to $26,700 in the town fund for compensation of town officers, $101,765 to pay costs of operating the assessor's office, $8,187 for expenses of the town collector and $7,900 for services and expenses. Also included in town fund budget items are $1,500 for contingencies and $8,800 for insurance.

Included in the general assistance fund tax levy are $162,250 for home relief purposes, $16,000 for hospitalization, $1,500 for burial and $42,950 for administration.

Advance GI Bill checks to students

Veterans who plan to attend school for the first time under the GI bill this summer or fall must act promptly if they want advance payment of educational checks.

The Veterans Administration says a veteran who plans to enter school should first make certain he has a certificate of eligibility. These may be obtained from the nearest VA office.

The certificate must be presented to the school of the veterans' choice. The school, if it accepts the veteran, will forward it and the enrollment certification on the reverse side to the VA.

Officials explained that if the agency receives this information at least 30 days before registration, veterans who train half time or more may pick up their first check when they register.

The first check will cover training allowances for the first two months, or one month and a portion of a month, depending on the registration date.

Under current rates, a single veteran in school full time receives $270 monthly. Veterans with one dependent draw $321; and two dependents, $366. With three or more dependents, an additional $22 is added for each dependent over two.

Halftime rates are $135 monthly for a single veteran; with one dependent, $160; and two dependents, $182. Veterans with three or more dependents receive an additional $11 monthly for each dependent.

Regititles boon to auto buyers

Secretary of State Michael J. Howlett's new Regititle program is saving taxpayers' money and winning unanimous approval of car dealers, Howlett said Tuesday.

He addressed the annual spring dinner meeting of the St. Clair-Madison Automobile Dealers Association at Sunset Hills Country Club.

The state official presented a public service award to Earle E. Bitzer Jr. of Bitzer-Schmacker Motors for service on the Auto Dealers Advisory Board. Bitzer's business, started by his father, succeeded a horse and buggy business operated by his grandfather at the same location in Collinsville.

"The board helps our office on car licensing and titling details and assists in closer communication with auto dealers," said Howlett. "Our Office of Dealer Service, advised by the board, has become a model which other states are studying and intend to follow.

"Dealer Service is an office of the regititle Division, which handles all the functions formerly handled by the Registration and Title Divisions of our Department of Motor Vehicles.

"It issues two new forms, which replace 24 forms formerly used to apply for license plates and certificates of title. For the first time, a car or truck buyer can apply for his title certificate and plates on a single form.

"One of the two new forms is for calendar-year plates, mostly cars; the other is for fiscal-year plates, mostly trucks and trailers.

"We began distributing the new Regititle application forms March 15. By April, every auto dealer in Illinois had a supply.

"Field representatives of our Office of Dealer Service meet monthly to report on their discussions with dealers and how to iron out problems.

"So far, we have had nothing but compliments. We still accept and process the old forms, but they come in from notaries, insurance brokers and other citizens outside the auto industry.

"The auto and truck dealers are close to 100 per cent with the new Regititle forms.

"They find it much easier to handle. It helps our office provide faster service.

"The turnaround time, from receipt of forms to issuance of title and plates, is now five days for normal transactions.

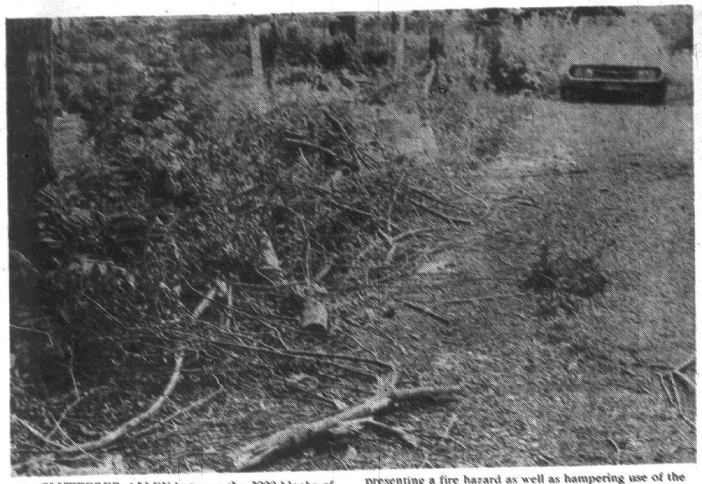

"Cost of printing fewer forms has saved money for the taxpayers. So has the efficiency of the teams of employes now handling both title and license plate processing in a team table operation.

"Earle Bitzer is one of 300 men and women who serve, without pay, on 30 advissory boards and committees to help our office do a better job.

"Citizen involvement in government processes is one of the things that make our country great.

"Whatever challenges lie before us—inflation, recession, unemployment, traffic safety, a slow car market—people like him will help us meet them, as our country has met every problem in the past."

Aboard carrier

Navy Seaman Dennis R. Asbeck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph F. Asbeck, 71 Holiday Mobile Park, has reported for duty aboard the nuclear-powered aircraft carrier USS Enterprise, now deployed to the Western Pacific. CINDERELLA WAITS HER TURN to try on the glass slipper, Granite City High School North advanced speech students pictured are Rod Hartzel, Lesa Awalt, Carolyn Rowden, Dawn Larsen, Eric Thoelke, Betsy Slate, Toni Simurda, Mary Bequette, Debbie Shup, Stephanie Winfield, Lori Oliver, Patty Bates, Sharon Bittick, Sue Hommert, Sara Lybarger, Debbie Schwendeman and Cindy Cripps. This was the second season for the drama program at North where students write and perform 25-minute adaptations of well known children's stories.

THE THREE LITTLE PIGS was one of three plays presented at the end of the school year to students in Maryville, Mitchell, Parkview and Lake elementary schools by the Peppermint Players of Granite City High School North. In the scene above, the big bad wolf promises to huff and puff and blow the houses down. Students are Jim Clutts, Joy Patrich, Cindy White, Jim Mathis, Beth Carbaugh, Cris Angle, Kathy Steward, Joyce Haldeman, Curt McCann, Bev Uzunoff, John Bischoff and Anita Turner.

Peppermint Players end second season

The "Peppermint Players" of Granite City High School North ended their second season as they presented three adaptations of famous children's stories to four elementary schools during the last week of the school year.

Students of Maryville, Mitchell, Parkview and Lake Schools were entertained by the advanced speech drama students under the direction of Dr. Gonie Michaeloff.

The thee plays presented were "The Three Little Pigs," "Rumpelstiltskin" and "Cinderella."

Lesa Awalt wrote the script for "Cinderella" with special sound effects which included a piano waltz played and recorded by Lisa Groothuis.

The advance speech students jointly wrote the scripts to the other two plays.

The three 25-minute programs were introduced and narrated by Sharon Koesterer "The Peppermint Girl."

"The purpose of the program is to offer advanced speech students an opportunity to present live theater performances to child audiences; thus introducing both high school and elementary students to worthwhile children's literature," Dr. Michaeloff said.

Cast of the "Three Little Pigs" included Cindy White, Judy Huniak and Sheila Hintz in the title roles; Joyce Haldeman, Anita Turner and Joy Patrich were the straw, stick and brick houses, respectively; Jim Mathis, the big bad wolf; John Bischoff, Bev Uzunoff, Kathy Steward, Cris Angle, and Beth Carbaugh were orange, apple, pine, cherry and willow trees, respectively.

The cast of "Rumpelstiltskin" included Randy Miles as the miller, Debbie Carmichael, miller's daughter; Larry Bax, king; Terry Ashby, town crier, and Terry Bax as Rumpelstiltskin.

Betsy Slate played the lead in "Cinderella."

Others in the cast were Carolyn Rowden, stepmother; Becky Bruce and Lesa Awalt, stepsisters; Mike Taylor, Prince Charming; Beth Heidbrink, fairy godmother; Bob Gay, king; Dawn Walker, queen; Jeff Sherman, grand duke; Lisa Groothuis, Grand Duchess; Becky Ducley, grand duke's daughter; Jack Dempsey, royal bugler; Rod Hartzel, royal messenger.

Birds were Lori Oliver, Stephanie Winfield, Sara Lybarger, and Debbie Schwendeman, with Dawn Larsen as the cat, and Eric Thoelke as Bruno, the dog.

Mayor group will install new officers

A regular monthly meeting of the Southwestern Illinois Council of Mayors will be held Wednesday, June 25, at Augustine's Restaurant, 1200 Centreville Ave., Belleville. A social hour will begin at 6 p.m. and dinner will be served at 7 p.m.

It will be "ladies' night" and there will be installation of new officers.

Mayor Donald Melhoen of Swansea will head the committee for entertainment.

Officers include Shiloh Mayor Raymond Jefferson, president, and Madison Mayor Mike Sasyk, vice-president.

Campuses to seek women

Institutions of higher learning in this area are exploring ways in which colleges and universities might help one another attract women to their campuses, according to Alfred Junz, executive director of the Regional Council Forum on Interinstitutional Cooperation (CIC). Wide-ranging discussions are resulting in plans to be explored at later meetings, he said.

The explorations were launched in a meeting at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville of representatives of seven member institutions within the council.

In addition to SIUE, council members include Blackburn College, Greenville College, Parks College, McKendree College, State Community College, Belleville Area College, Lewis and Clark Community College, Rend Lake College, Kaskaskia College and Principia College.

Orgainized in 1972, the council has as its purpose to study educational and service needs of the area served by the institutions of higher learning, and to develop programs to fill those needs.

Also, it hopes to survey special areas of faculty expertise and develop systems of transferability of staff, students and curriculum among member institutions, Junz said.

Miss Barbara Parkinson, Gary Goetz are married

Miss Barbara Parkinson, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Parkinson, 3901 Lake St., became the bride of Gary R. Goetz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Goetz, 21 W. 721 Huntington Road, Glen Ellyn, Ill., one June 14 at St. Elizabeth Catholic Church.

Plateau baskets filled with summer blossoms decorated the sanctuary for the double ring ceremony, performed at 2 p.m. by the Rev. Bernard LaBonte.

Guitarist Jim Herbert played "The Wedding Song," "Time In a Bottle" and "For All We Know."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a white organza gown fashioned in an empire silhouette and enhanced by a lace-bordered mantilla veil, falling into the sweep of the bridal train.

Lace encircled the waist and tiny floral lace motifs created a wide border at the hemline, extending into the chapel train. She carried a bouquet of white gardenias and white roses, interlaced with baby's breath.

Friends of the bride, Miss Pamela Jones and Mrs. Peggy Hotson, served as maid and matron of honor, respectively.

The attendants were gowned alike in halter-style frocks in an orchid shade. The all-over print bodices, topping long skirts were complemented with short capelets, fitted beneath white satin collars which added a decorative touch to their gowns.

Tammy Ames, a niece of the bride, was the flower girl. Kimberly Ames, Crista Parkinson and Tricia Fitchett, also nieces of the bride, held baskets filled with rice bags.

All four girls wore long dresses made in similar style to those worn by the adult attendants.

The bridegrrom selected Cliff Hauger as best man. Charles Parkinson, the bride's brother, James Dinges, the groom's brother-in-law, and Steven Gobetz, served as groomsmen.

Michael Parkinson, a nephew of the bride, was ring bearer. Seating the guests were Thomas Fitchett, a nephew of the bride, and Randy Goetz, the bridegroom's brother.

Mrs. Parkinson chose for her daughter's wedding a full-length gown in an aqua shade, worn with white accessories. The bridegroom's mother appeared in a long yellow frock. Both wore corsages of white orchids.

A reception followed at the Long Lake Firemen's Hall in Pontoon Beach. Later, the couple departed on a wedding trip to the Lodge of the Four Seasons at the Lake of the Ozarks, Mo.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Kreher of Pontoon Beach entertained at a bachelor party last week. The former Miss Parkinson and her attendants were honored guests at a bachelorette party, hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Atkinson at their home.

Both the bride and groom are recent graduates of Illinois State University at Normal.

Mrs. Goetz, a graduate of Granite City High School, received her undergraduate degree in the field of special education. Her husband, a business administration major, earlier attended the Homewood-Flossmore High School.

Upon their return from the Missouri Ozarks, the newlyweds will be at home in Steger, Ill.
